$13.5 Million Operation

International Dope Ring Smashed; Three Arrested

NEW YORK (AP) — Three men, one of them the Mexican ambassador to Bolivia, have been arrested in connection with the smashing of a $13.5-million international narcotics ring.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the arrests Friday were the result of a joint three-year investigation by the Bureau of Narcotics, the Bureau of Customs, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the French Surete Nationale.

Kennedy also said U.S. authorities "have worked with the closest cooperation of the government of Mexico, which has played a strong part in the international effort to suppress the illegal trade in narcotics."

Henry L. Giordano, commissioner of narcotics, said a little over two pounds of heroin were seized in New York and more than 130 pounds were seized in Montreal by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The Justice Department said the seizure represented the second largest shipment of heroin ever smuggled into the United States and Canada. The heroin came to 134 pounds, federal agents said.

Kennedy said the $13.5-million value placed on the seized heroin was at current underworld rates in this country. It would be worth far more, he said, in Canada.

Arraigned before U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld were Salvador Pardo-Bolland, 55, the Mexican ambassador to Bolivia; Carlos Aritzi, 60, employed by the Uruguayan Foreign Ministry in Montevideo, and who claimed to be in New York for diplomatic purposes; and Rene Bruchon, 50, said by the Department of Justice to be a Frenchman deported from the United States in 1949 and in this country illegally.

Aritzi and Pardo-Bolland were seized in Aritzi's midtown Manhattan hotel room about 3 p.m. Bruchon had been picked up earlier while strolling along Eighth Avenue at 57th Street.

The three men were ordered held in $100,000 bail each for hearings Monday on charges of conspiracy to violate the U.S. narcotics laws.

If convicted, each man could receive a 20-year prison sentence and a fine of $20,000.

The only larger seizure of heroin in recent history was on Oct. 3, 1960, in New York City, when the Bureau of Narcotics arrested Mauricio Rosal, Guatemalan ambassador to Belgium and the Netherlands. In that case 224 pounds was seized. Rosal pleaded guilty and is serving a 15-year prison term.

2nd Juror Okayed For Ruby Trial

In Session Today After False Bomb Threat In Court

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Jack Ruby's trial on charges of murder with malice goes into an unusual Saturday session today, after the selection of a second juror and a false bomb threat in the courtroom.

The second juror, sworn in Friday, is Allen W. McCoy, 39, an industrial engineer.

Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown called the special session to speed up the meticulous, unusually hard-fought process of finding 12 jurors.

After a "mumbled" telephone call about a bomb, the courthouse where Ruby is being tried was quietly searched during the noon recess Friday. The call came to a court in Oak Cliff, a suburb, where Brown's son, Joe B. Brown Jr. is a justice of the peace.

Officers apprehended four persons in or near the building where Ruby is being tried during the week. They said they believed all four are mentally disturbed. One was carrying a gun.

Ruby faces a possible death sentence for killing Lee Harvey Oswald last Nov. 24. Oswald had been charged with murdering President John F. Kennedy in Dallas.

Melvin Belli, chief defense counsel, said McCoy is much the same type of man as Max E. Causey, the first juror chosen. Causey, 35, is an electronics analyst. Important to the defense is the fact that both jurors said they have some knowledge of modern psychiatry.

Ruby's defense will be based on a claim of temporary insanity. Belli says that psychiatrists will be called, and that there will be much testimony about brain damage, mental disturbances, and the methods of determining them. McCoy said he is not opposed to capital punishment. But under Belli's questioning, he said: "Taking a man's life is not an easy thing. It's going to be a hard decision. It wouldn't be an easy thing to decide." McCoy paused at length as he uttered these sentences. A frown notched his high forehead. He seemed to be thinking hard.

Snow Seen Possible By Late Sunday Night

Apparently dissatisfied with a brief respite from snow, the Ohio weatherman has ordered more of the same for Sunday night.

Only a few scattered flurries accompanied a sharp drop in temperature Friday night but now a warming trend apparently will bring more of the white stuff to freshen up the remnants of the heavy fall of Tuesday night.

The downtown had a crisp 12 at 7 a. m. today and the mercury may drop to that range again tonight with a low of 13 to 22 seen. Tomorrow will see a warmup under increasing cloudiness, as a prelude to the new snow likely by late evening.

Man Pleads Innocent To Bank Robberies

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Bernard C. McKiever, 30, of Akron has pleaded innocent to state and federal charges of robbing Barberton and Uniontown branches of the Akron Savings & Loan Association.

McKiever, a poultry farmer, was captured Thursday as he left the S & L Barberton branch with $3,778 in a paper bag, police said.

Parked Truck Damaged In Skid Accident

Owner Is Witness To Hit-Skip Crash Later Near Scene

An E. 4th St. man's parked pickup truck was damaged in a skidding mishap late Friday afternoon at E. 4th and Elm Sts. and a few hours later he witnessed a hit-skip mishap at the same intersection, police reported.

The truck of Robert E. Nutter, 705 E. 4th St., was struck shortly before 5 p.m. and at 9:10 p.m. Nutter saw an East End man's parked sedan hit by a skidding car whose driver drove off without stopping, officers said.

Donald L. Mattern, 1204 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, reported to police headquarters at 5 p.m. that he was descending the E. 4th St. when an east-bound car approached.

Mattern told police he braked his car but skidded into the left front of Nutter's truck. The right front of his 1961 hardtop

Hoffa Lawyers Seek To Discredit Witness

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa's lawyers began a drive Friday to discredit the one witness who linked him with alleged efforts to fix a federal court jury.

The Teamsters Union president elected to delay until next week his appearance before the jury. The trial enters its sixth week Monday.

Thirteen persons were called to tell what they knew about Edward Grady Partin, the Baton Rouge, La., Teamsters official who became the government's main witness against Hoffa.

Mr. K Says Worry About U.S. Lessens

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told an Italian publisher in a talk made public today that his worries about the United States were lessening but that the German problem continued to bother him.

Khrushchev's views were expressed Friday in a conversation with Julio Einaudi, Italian publisher here to arrange publication of some of the Soviet premier's speeches.

Einaudi, telling newsmen about the talks, indicated that the Soviet premier felt secure about Britain, France, Italy and the United States.

"He feels as if he can sleep between two cushions," Einaudi said.

What is more preoccupying to Khrushchev at this time is the climate of revenge in the Federal German Republic, Einaudi said.

For what correspondents here felt was the first time, Khrushchev expressed the view that perhaps former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to understand the danger of a solution of the German problem through use of force. "He considers that Chancellor (Ludwig) Erhard also understands these dangers," Einaudi said.

Businessman Jailed In Slaying Of Bookie

NEW YORK (AP)—A mild-mannered, bespectacled Park Avenue businessman, the father of three children, was behind prison bars today, charged with slaying a bookie in a bizarre plot to welsh on a $25,000 bet.

Mark Fein went on his father's shoulder Friday as he was arraigned after a red-haired divorcee told police she helped dump the bullet-ridden body of the bookie into the Harlem River last October.

Thant Pushes Formula For Peace Force

U.N. Chief Seeks Acceptance Of Plan For Cyprus Unit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant sought today to resolve differences over the makeup and financing of his proposed U.N. peace force for troubled Cyprus.

Thant continued his private conversations over the weekend in an effort to win acceptance of a U.N. Cyprus formula for presentation to the Security Council next week.

Diplomatic sources said Thant had won general agreement on the need for an international police force to keep apart the island's warring Greek and Turkish communities and the appointment of a U.N. mediator to seek a permanent solution. But obstacles remain.

Some nations willing to contribute troops are reluctant to bear the cost. Thant would like them to accept the expense with the United States and Britain providing transportation and other services.

In Los Angeles Friday, President Johnson said the United States "will do all we can to find a solution to the Cypriot problem."

Thant also must win acceptance of a mediator and commander of the peace force and agreement on the wording of a Philippine Council resolution on the Cyprus problem.

MANILA (AP) — Twenty-eight persons died in the crash of a Philippine airlines DC3 on Mindanao Friday, the airline announced tonight. One man survived.

Cash Chest Carted Away Then Looted

Combination Left On Door Unseen By Toiling Intruders

Burglars ripped through a brick and tile wall to gain entrance to a walk-in safe at Beaver Local Public School sometime during the night.

They then ripped loose a money chest and carted it away. The loss is expected to range between $200 and $300, while the damage to the safe is expected to run much more than the cash loss.

They did it the hard way, apparently not observing the numbers to the combination left on the outside of the door to forestall just such damage.

The burglary was discovered about 8 a. m. today by custodians reporting for work, according to George Van Horne, executive head of the Beaver Local District.

The Columbiana County Sheriff's office was notified and is investigating.

Entrance to the building was gained through a rear door, leading into the gymnasium boiler room. The door had been pried open.

Ironically, the thieves went to all the trouble to break through the wall to get into the safe, containing the cash box.

Van Horne said the combination had been put on the outside to avoid any such incident. All they would have had to do was work the combination, he said. This would have prevented all the damage to the walls.

Authorities said the intruders apparently toiled most of the night to gain entry to the safe.

The thieves broke through an adjoining restroom. They dug through a layer of brick and 4-inch tile with a large, eight-foot "clinker bar" used in the boiler room.

After breaking through, making about a 16-x-24-inch hole, they crawled through and started working in the cash box which was encased in metal and held down with a large cement slab.

The bar was used to peel the metal away from the cement slab. The thieves then lifted the cash box through the hole, being unable to open it inside, and put it on a dolly.

It was carted out through the rear of the school and to a nearby lane where tire tracks were observed. The tracks of the dolly were plainly visible in the snow.

The cash box with the steel casing was estimated to weigh 1,200 pounds.

2 Prisoners Who Fled Jail Free Hostage

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Two prisoners fled from the Madison County Jail in a sheriff's car today, taking a deputy as hostage. The deputy was found unhurt a short time later, and the car recovered.

Other deputies said they are not sure if the escapees, Wayne Downing and Gary Massie, both of the Mount Sterling, Ohio, are, now are on foot.

The deputy who was forced to accompany them, William Stidham, 35, was found near Plattsburg in adjoining Clark County, handcuffed to some farm machinery. The marked cruiser also was recovered there.

Stidham had been questioning the pair when one apparently threw salt in his face and disarmed him.

The two had been held about a week on armed robbery charges.

End 2 Days Of Talks

Johnson, Mateos To Bare Statement Of Solidarity

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Johnson and his guest, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico, breakfast today to put the finishing touches on a statement of hands-across-the-border solidarity.

A post-breakfast joint communique on two days of talks by the two presidents was to be followed by a Lopez Mateos news conference.

The early morning meeting was the final business session scheduled by the two chief executives.

However, both men and their wives were to get together during the afternoon at Los Angeles for an hour-long fiesta of Mexican entertainment.

A spokesman for the Mexican leader, Justo Sierra, said the two-nation conference was marked by amity and cordiality.

The traveling White House, meantime, announced that Johnson would remain in Palm Springs an extra night. It was originally thought that he would leave Southern California this evening.

Topics covered by Johnson and Lopez Mateos included the Alliance for Progress, international trade, disarmament and the long-standing problem of too much salt in Colorado River water used to irrigate Mexico's Mexicali Valley.

Neither Justo Sierra nor White House press secretary Pierre Salinger mentioned what must have been a jarring background note: The arrest in New York of the Mexican ambassador to Bolivia as one of three accused of conspiracy to transport and receive illegal narcotics valued at a minimum of $13.5 million.

White House sources made light of the incident, saying the episode was three years old and did not figure in the two-nation talks.

Johnson and Lopez Mateos paid a 40-minute call Friday night on former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The American and Mexican presidents flew by helicopter to the 13th fairway of the fashionable Eldorado Country Club, landing at the front door of Eisenhower's winter home.

Eisenhower threw his arms around Lopez Mateos in the traditional Latin-American embrace and then, after a few warm words, shook Johnson's hand and said, "How have you been?"

Mrs. Eisenhower later took her guests on a tour of the house.

Situation Termed Serious

Redistricting Seen Major Issue For Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Congressional redistricting looms as a major problem for the 1964 Ohio legislature.

"The situation in Ohio is serious," asserted Hugh A. Sherer, special counsel for Atty. Gen. William Saxbe.

The Columbus attorney made his observation after looking over a U. S. Supreme Court decision holding that districts must be of substantially equal population in each state.

A table ranked Ohio fourth in disparity of population between its biggest and smallest districts.

Ohio's disparity was 489,000. Texas led with 735,000, followed by Michigan 625,000 and Georgia, where the high court case originated, 551,000.

Buckeye legislative leaders expressed belief that redistricting action can wait until the next legislative session convenes.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, predicted a number of redistricting bills probably would be offered.

He said lawmakers would be asked to draw maps of how redistricting could be accomplished.

About 10 such maps were drafted in 1961, he recalled. But nothing came of them that year or in the 1963 session.

Ohio has 23 district congressmen and a 24th at-large representative elected statewide. The 1960 federal census gave Ohio the extra congressman.

Some speculated that reluctant legislators might not take action unless forced to by the courts. Any citizen could bring an action to require redistricting in U. S. District Court, they said.

Others asserted that the predominantly Republican Ohio legislature might not want to wait until the regular 1965 session. They said redistricting could be taken up in special session if the governor desired.

Gov. James A. Rhodes remained noncommittal. He has said he would call an extraordinary session if the proposed $500 million highway bond issue won approval in the May 5 primary election.

Cloud said most probable action at a regular session likely would deal with a 24th district and changes to make the two largest and two smallest Ohio districts more equal in population.

Largest Ohio district is the 3rd composed of Montgomery and Butler counties with a population of 726,156 in the 1960 census count.

The 12th District comprised of Franklin County ranked second with a population of 682,692.

At the other end of the scale is the 15th District in southeastern Ohio with a count of 236,288. The district embraces the counties of Muskingum, Guernsey, Perry, Morgan, Noble, Washington and Monroe.

Second smallest is the 10th District with 274,441 in the counties of Fairfield, Hocking, Vinton, Jackson, Lawrence, Athens, Meigs and Gallia. The district stretches from central Ohio to the Ohio River.

The ideal Ohio district would have a population of 404,433, figures showed.

Family Of 11 Dies In Dixie Home Fire

CHERAW, S.C. (AP) — An eleven-member family burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed a rented frame home in a rural area eight miles south of here on U.S. 52.

The victims were Moses James and his wife, Mary Agnes, both 36, and their nine children, aged one to 15.

Sisters Pick Area Men As Robbery Pair

Two district brothers have been identified by two elderly sisters as the pair who bound and robbed them Aug. 30 after threats with a pistol at the victims' rural home on the Darlington Rd. near Negley.

Sheriff Russell VanFossan said James E. Davis, 26, of the Substation Rd., East Liverpool, and Sanford A. Davis, 43, of Smiths Ferry were picked out of a lineup of suspects Thursday night at the County Jail at Lisbon by Misses Ida Ward, 61, and Leoma Ward, 65.

The robbers, one with a pistol, tied up the sisters and fled with $200 while a third sister, Miss Mary Ward, 67, was in the barn milking. She was unaware of the robbery.

One of the sisters managed to free herself and the other and they alerted the third when authorities were notified.

The sheriff said the sisters were able to give only little information but the description of the car seen in the vicinity at the time was similar to the one the brothers were driving. They were picked up late Thursday afternoon for the lineup. The sisters were brought to the jail and identified the men as the alleged robbers.

The pair was taken before County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine Friday, who set bond at $1,000 each for a hearing Monday at 1:30 p.m. on charges of armed robbery.

James Davis produced bond and was released pending the hearing, but his brother remained in jail.

Combination Left On Door Unseen By Toiling Intruders

Burglars ripped through a brick and tile wall to gain entrance to a walk-in safe at Beaver Local Public School sometime during the night.

They then ripped loose a money chest and carted it away. The loss is expected to range between $200 and $300, while the damage to the safe is expected to run much more than the cash loss.

They did it the hard way, apparently not observing the numbers to the combination left on the outside of the door to forestall just such damage.

The burglary was discovered about 8 a. m. today by custodians reporting for work, according to George Van Horne, executive head of the Beaver Local District.

The Columbiana County Sheriff's office was notified and is investigating.

Entrance to the building was gained through a rear door, leading into the gymnasium boiler room. The door had been pried open.

Ironically, the thieves went to all the trouble to break through the wall to get into the safe, containing the cash box.

Van Horne said the combination had been put on the outside to avoid any such incident. All they would have had to do was work the combination, he said. This would have prevented all the damage to the walls.

Authorities said the intruders apparently toiled most of the night to gain entry to the safe.

The thieves broke through an adjoining restroom. They dug through a layer of brick and 4-inch tile with a large, eight-foot "clinker bar" used in the boiler room.

After breaking through, making about a 16x24-inch hole, they crawled through and started working in the cash box which was encased in metal and held down with a large cement slab.

The bar was used to peel the metal away from the cement slab. The thieves then lifted the cash box through the hole, being unable to open it inside, and put it on a dolly.

It was carted out through the rear of the school and to a nearby lane where tire tracks were observed. The tracks of the dolly were plainly visible in the snow.

The cash box with the steel casing was estimated to weigh 1,200 pounds.

2 Prisoners Who Fled Jail Free Hostage

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Two prisoners fled from the Madison County Jail in a sheriff's car today, taking a deputy as hostage. The deputy was found unharmed a short time later, and the car recovered.

Other deputies said they are not sure if the escapees, Wayne Downing and Gary Massie, both of the Mount Sterling, Ohio, are, now are on foot.

The deputy who was forced to accompany them, William Stidham, 35, was found near Plattsburg in adjoining Clark County, handcuffed to some farm machinery. The marked cruiser also was recovered there.

Stidham had been questioning the pair when one apparently threw salt in his face and disarmed him.

The two had been held about a week on armed robbery charges.

An E. 4th St. man's parked pickup truck was damaged in a skidding mishap late Friday afternoon at E. 4th and Elm Sts. and a few hours later he witnessed a hit-skip mishap at the same intersection, police reported.

Hoffa Lawyers Seek To Discredit Witness

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa's lawyers began a drive Friday to discredit the one witness who linked him with alleged efforts to fix a federal court jury.

Thirteen persons were called to tell what they knew about Edward Grady Partin, the Baton Rouge, La., Teamsters official who became the government's main witness against Hoffa.

Mr. K Says Worry About U.S. Lessens

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told an Italian publisher in a talk made public today that his worries about the United States were lessening but that the German problem continued to bother him.

Khrushchev's views were expressed Friday in a conversation with Julio Einaudi, Italian publisher here to arrange publication of some of the Soviet premier's speeches.

Einaudi, telling newsmen about the talks, indicated that the Soviet premier felt secure about Britain, France, Italy and the United States.

"He feels as if he can sleep between two cushions," Einaudi said.

What is more preoccupying to Khrushchev at this time is the climate of revenge in the Federal German Republic, Einaudi said.

For what correspondents here felt was the first time, Khrushchev expressed the view that perhaps former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to understand the danger of a solution of the German problem through use of force.

"He considers that Chancellor (Ludwig) Erhard also understands these dangers," Einaudi said.

Businessman Jailed In Slaying Of Bookie

NEW YORK (AP) — A mild-mannered, bespectacled Park Avenue businessman, the father of three children, was behind prison bars today, charged with slaying a bookie in a bizarre plot to welsh on a $25,000 bet.

Mark Fein wept on his father's shoulder Friday as he was arraigned after a red-haired divorcee told police she helped dump the bullet-ridden body of the bookie into the Harlem River last October.

Thant Pushes Formula For Peace Force

U.N. Chief Seeks Acceptance Of Plan For Cyprus Unit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant sought today to resolve differences over the makeup and financing of his proposed U.N. peace force for troubled Cyprus.

Thant continued his private conversations over the weekend in an effort to win acceptance of a U.N. Cyprus formula for presentation to the Security Council next week.

Diplomatic sources said Thant had won general agreement on the need for an international police force to keep apart the island's warring Greek and Turkish communities and the appointment of a U.N. mediator to seek a permanent solution. But obstacles remain.

Some nations willing to contribute troops are reluctant to bear the cost. Thant would like them to accept the expense with the United States and Britain providing transportation and other services.

In Los Angeles Friday, President Johnson said the United States "will do all we can to find a solution to the Cypriot problem."

Thant also must win acceptance of a mediator and commander of the peace force and agreement on the wording of a Security Council resolution on the Cyprus problem.

ELHS Starts Scheduling For Students

Scheduling of East Liverpool High School students for the 1964-65 term was started under the direction of the guidance department.

Students will be counseled individually by Mrs. Ruth Connor, dean of girls, and Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys, to work out next year's schedule.

The counseling started with those who will be seniors next year and then next year's juniors will be scheduled.

The deans will visit Westgate Junior High and East Junior High to counsel with incoming sophomores.

Students interested in attending summer school must register with the deans at the time they are counseled.

Principal Carl F. Pelini said most students attend summer school to complete a requirement so they can take an elective during the regular school year.

The school plans to offer American government, economics, English II and English III this year. However, only students who have failed English are permitted to take the repeat courses.

Summer school will begin June 8 with classes meeting three hours a day for five days a week for eight weeks.

Pelini said some students generally are surprised to find they are not in the class in which they believed they were.

A student is not classified as a senior unless he has earned 12 credits at the beginning of the school year. Seven credits are required to be listed as a junior.

State law requires a student earn 16 credits in order to graduate from high school.

Winter and Your Septic Tank

Unlike humans, who heat their homes in winter, or even animals, who have hairy bodies to keep them warm the poor little bacteria in septic tanks have no protection against those harsh winter months ahead.

Since a temperature drop of only a few degrees will kill billions of these hard working microbes, the reduced bacterial population becomes incapable of the waste which enters such systems, resulting in clogged and unsanitary conditions.

These bacteria, mainly the coliform-type, are produced in the human body at a temperature of 98.6° F., and lose their ability to produce their own enzymes for solids liquefaction as the temperature drops literally starving to death. Quoting from SEWERAGE and SEWAGE TREATMENT: (1)

"Temperature of sludge digestion — the most practical optimum temperature of sludge digestion, known as the Mesophilic Range, is between 80° F. and 90° F., preferably about 85° F. As the temperature drops, bacterial action diminishes almost in proportion until at about 50° F. It practically ceases."

Naturally (since the temperatures in unheated sewage systems average between 50° F. in winter, it may readily be seen that trouble can be expected.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help Enzymes are not as susceptible to low temperatures as are bacteria, and it has been proven that their liquefying ability continues as slow as 35° F. Therefore SEA-CAL takes over the reduction of the solids, producing food in AVAILABLE form for the reduced bacteria population, enabling them to continue their valuable work, and to produce clear effluents for transmission to drainfields and cesspools. Since SEA-CAL also contains strains of virile bacteria by the million per gram, fresh populations are added each time a treatment is made.

For only a few pennies per treatment, for the average home system, SEA-CAL insures year-round protection from costly service problems, and unsanitary conditions.

USE SEA-CAL ENZYMES REGULARLY ALL YEAR, INCREASING DOSES IN WINTER.

Saunders received a 1-inch laceration of the left leg and a quarter-inch cut of the right forearm while Douglas needed two stitches to close an irregular laceration of the right index finger and another suture for a cut below the lower lip. He also had a contusion of the upper lip, police were told.

Officers said a preliminary report showed Saunders and Douglas had been in a fight at 438 1st Ave.

Saunders refused to make a statement, police said, while Douglas declared Saunders had assaulted him and had impaled himself on the knife.

Douglas told police he was holding the knife "strictly for defense." Officers said Douglas told them he had asked several times for someone to break up the fight.

Douglas' injuries were reported by Robert Douglas, 1011 Locust St., while Mrs. Saunders reported her husband's injuries.

Hager was attending the East Liverpool-Weirton game at Memorial Auditorium.

Street crews were called out to ash the slippery brick surface from Broadway to Pennsylvania Ave.

The entire left side of a 1958 two-door driven by Richard A. Peters, 21, of 1172 Harker Ave. was damaged at 11:45 p.m. on Virginia Ave., police said.

Peters told officers he was headed south when his car was forced off the street by another driver and into a utility pole.

Janet Kirbaugh, 937 Denver St., told police yesterday afternoon the left door of her car was damaged by a hit-skip driver while parked on Walnut St. between 5 and 10 p.m. Thursday.

The Virginia Farmer

George Washington was made heroic by events. He was no hero by choice. He chose to be a Virginia Farmer. Events made him a soldier-statesman.

In the long-term evolution of truth in history, we finally may get rid of legends about our greatest men and depend on the truth to show what made them great.

There is no absence of such truths in the life of George Washington. Many are as starkly tragic as the truths that shaped the greatness of Abraham Lincoln.

In the closing days of the Revolutionary War, while his countrymen were striving to gain petty commercial advantages, even trading with the enemy, Gen. Washington was confronted with a proposal to make him a king, using the army to establish his authority.

The author of the proposal was Lewis Nicola, public official, editor, merchant and military expert. He reflected the views of other militarists, distressed by evidence that the civilian populace was showing no aptitude for ordinary government.

THOUGH NICOLA was not the spokesman for an organized faction, he was so well known and influential that Washington could not dismiss him as a single voice. The man who was to preside later over the Constitutional Convention and become the first president of the republic created by the convention knew all about the civilian chaos. He knew the colonies might be unworthy of victory.

He knew he was in danger of losing what had turned into his own life's work if the disorderly nature of his undisciplined countrymen and their frantic scramble for survival could not be controlled. His withering reply to Nicola did not quell the idea of a monarchy. Washington had cause to wonder if a military coup was in the making. If he did not consent to be king, someone less worthy might be enthroned to bring order to the unruly colonies.

HE STOOD firm. He showed generosity to the embittered officers and men of the Continental Army, pleading with Congress and the states to show them justice.

He, himself, when the war ended, retired to Mount Vernon to repair his shattered fortunes. Far from thinking of himself as a king, he thought of himself only as a Virginia farmer saved by Providence for what was left of a shattered life.

There is enough greatness in men like Washington—and Lincoln — to enable them a place in historic perspective without the legends that have been substituted for facts.

No Prosperity Mirage

If things appeared brighter in the East Liverpool area in January, it was no mirage.

Far more people were at work last month in the area's 11 major industrial plants — compared with January 1963 — and they took home over a quarter of a million dollars more in wages than in the first month of last year.

That bright picture was shown today in the monthly summary of conditions issued by the Chamber of Commerce.

Specifically, the 11 plants paid out $1,280,755 in wages last month, a boost of 25.3 per cent from the $1,022,092 their employees received in January 1963. The difference in dollars is $258,663, a real shot in the arm for the economy.

The same 11 plants had 3,590 persons on their payrolls in January, a gain of 17.3 per cent from the 3,061 shown in the first month of last year. The Chamber's figures show a gain of 589 jobs.

Much of the gain can be credited to a resurgence of business for the dinnerware industry that was noted late last fall.

Both management and employees no doubt are hoping for the trend to continue as the months roll along. Just as vitally concerned are the retail tradesmen, the professional men and the businessmen with services to offer. Their prosperity is tied directly to the comparative wealth of the trading area.

Many other indices are up from January 1963 — bank clearings and debits, railroad carloadings, river traffic and new car sales.

The East Liverpool area apparently has fallen in step with the rest of the nation, marching forward into what is expected to be one of the most prosperous years since the Korean Conflict.

Hope For Republicans

A meaningful speculation is going on about one possible effect of apportioning the U.S. House of Representatives on a fairer basis, as the Supreme Court has ruled desirable.

The court's thinking is shown in the closing passage of its latest ruling:

"While it may not be possible to draw congressional districts with mathematical precision, that is no excuse for ignoring the Constitution's plain objective of making equal representation for equal numbers of people the fundamental goal for the House of Representatives. That is the high standard of justice and common sense which the founders set for us."

THERE IS a belief in Republican circles that redistricting would add dozens of GOP representatives; that in the 1960 election Republicans would have elected as many as 209 House members, instead of 178, if congressional districts had been approximately equal in population.

How could this be in view of the fact Democrats are the majority in most U.S. cities? The explanation lies in the makeup of suburban populations. Wherever these have been lumped with residual city populations in overpopulated districts represented by Democrats, there has been under-representation of Republicans.

To the extent that suburbanites tend to be Republicans and city dwellers tend to be Democrats, Republicans are the victims of under-representation. In any reasonable redistricting, new districts would be formed outside municipalities, in areas "suburban sprawl" has been filling up.

THE CATCH is "reasonable redistricting."

The state legislators who bear the responsibility for redistricting are experts in the art of the gerrymander — drawing legislative districts to favor one party over another.

If gerrymanders could be kept under control, Republicans might very well be the beneficiaries of reapportionment of the 435 seats in the House of Representatives. It's a momentous "if."

One of my favorite people has become U.S. Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who delivered that beautiful oration during the dark days of the Kennedy tragedy and whose golden words in the Senate chamber recently jogged the consciences of his associates on the civil rights issue.

One of my favorite people is the governor of Alabama, who tries to twist Northern employment into his state, where he recently started a blacklist of every person who advocates respect for the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

I broke up while reading a Satevepost article on the nervousness of males when confronted with a plunging neckline. It happened to me at a party some years ago (the lady was in one of those oo-la-la party dresses) and I still squirm when I remember my, er, squirming.

I thought of the Westminster Dog Show when I saw our two chow hounds curled up in the snow asleep after a 30 minute romp over two or three acres of otherwise unmarred snowfall and felt sorry all over again for those pampered hothouse twirps.

I can tell the difference a stand-patter from a forward-mover by asking about frozen peas and frozen food in general. Stand-patters throw up their hands in horror. Forward-movers take progress in stride, such as vacuum cleaners, inside plumbing, store-bought soap, suffrage for women etc.

My country right or wrong, but isn't it possible my country was mouse-trapped into over-reacting in the incident of the Cuban fishermen and the Guantanamo pipeline? It's better than under-reacting, but ideally my country would avoid both extremes.

Meteorites Make Moon Hazardous

By Earl Ubell

If you wander across certain fields in Southern Australia, you may stub your toe on a clump of the moon. In picking up the offending stone, you'll find it a glassy, black piece of matter that looks like a carved button off a woman's coat. Scientists call such stones tektites, from the Greek, Tektos—meaning molten, because they appear once to have been liquid stone.

You can find similar buttons in Martha's Vineyard, Georgia, Texas, Africa, Czechoslovakia and throughout Southeast Asia. There must be tons of the stuff scattered over the earth. Measurements of their radioactivity reveal that those in Southeast Asia are between 600,000 and 700,000 years old.

According to Dr. John A. O'Keefe—a physicist and this nation's unofficial warden of the tektite situation—they all came from the moon; evidence supporting this thesis piles up daily.

DR. O'KEEFE, who works at the Goddard Space Flight Center of the National Aeronautics Space Administration, summarized this evidence in the February issue of the Scientific American. Simultaneously Dr. Dean R. Chapman, of NASA's Ames Research Center, announced his successful efforts to create artificial tektites in a high speed wind tunnel.

Not all scientist believe that the button-shaped black rocks came from the moon. Some think that huge meteorites—chunks of matter from the solar system—splashed into the earth and created the tektites. But Dr. O'Keefe rejects the idea.

If the tektites did come from the moon, then Dr. O'Keefe draws several conclusions: The moon must be a chunk that was torn loose from the earth 5 billion years ago or else it is a twin of the earth formed at about the same time. It cannot be a stray planetoid that was captured by the earth's gravity.

DR. O'KEEFE'S case rests on a chain of circumstantial evidence that may be verified when we get a piece of the moon stuff from the hand of an astronaut returning from our natural satellite.

First, analysis of the tektites show that the minerals came from meteoritic materials; i.e. they came from beyond the earth.

Second, although tektites contain radioactive elements, they do not contain aluminum-26, which other meteorites have. Aluminum-26 is found in ordinary meteorites as they wander for millions of years in the solar system and are bombarded by cosmic rays. Tektites can only have wandered for 10,000 years, or so at most but the clues say they came directly from the moon.

HOW DO such things arrive from the moon; how do they get those enormous velocities? Explanations: Meteorites smash into the moon hourly just as they do on earth. But the moon has no atmosphere to slow them down; they hit with full speed—from 1 to 10 miles a second.

When that happens, the impact is an explosion which scoops out some moon matter and sends it flying in all directions. Some of this matter reaches even greater speeds than the impacting meteorite and at velocities which tear it from the moon's gravitational forces.

Calculations by NASA scientists show that more material leaves the moon as a result of meteor impact than arrives.

(All of this raises a side issue for future moon landing astronauts. Impact from the meteorites must create large showers of high-speed projectiles at great distances along the moon's surface. This creates a danger for our moon men something like being exposed to the hail of machine gun bullets.)

Sen. Smith's Campaign

By Gwen Gibson

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine has firmly implanted her trade marks—high heels and red roses—as symbols of presidential politics nearly as well known as former President Eisenhower's grin or Sen. Estes Kefauver's coon-skin cap.

She did so with a 1,000-mile sweep of New Hampshire last week which was easily the daintiest national campaign trip of the century.

The delicate-looking senator is out to make an impressive showing against a field of male opponents in New Hampshire's first - in - the - nation presidential primary March 10.

She started her campaign in sub-zero weather and before dawn last Feb. 10, near the headwaters of the Connecticut River—farther north than any of her rivals have ventured. While Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, her chief GOP opponents were barnstorming with planes, banners, buttons and sound trucks, Mrs. Smith drove quietly about by private car, like a favorite auntie calling on relatives.

SHE USED none of the normal accouterments of politics. No bands blared, no rallies were staged, and few speeches were made. Mrs. Smith's schedule itself seems to grow out of the ether as she and her two aids—William Lewis and Bill (not William) Deachman—drove from New Hampshire's north country through the center of the state and on to Keene, in the southwest corner, where she concluded her initial, six-day presidential stumping tour.

She was so impressed with the "warmth" of her reception in the Granite State that she vowed to return often before the March 10 voting, even if it means marring her prized attendance record in the Senate: she has answered more than 1,500 roll calls, and missed only one, since being elected in 1948.

The handsome silver-haired lady of 66 is the first woman to seek the presidential nomination in the 20th century. Two others tried it in campaigns of 1872 and 1884, respectively, Victoria Claflin Woodhull, who espoused free love and spiritualism, and Belva Ann Lockwood, a more sedate Washington lawyer. Their campaigns hardly got off the boards.

SEN. SMITH may not win, place or show in 1964, but already she's making such a mark that two of her ambitions will probably be recognized. She has said she hopes to end "any political bigotry against women" and to "pioneer the way for a woman to be elected president in the future." She also probably wants to figure seriously as a 1964 vice presidential candidate, and there are no vice presidential primaries.

Often losing a handful of trailing reporters who could not always fathom her extemporized itinerary, Mrs. Smith adopted a technique that smacked of Kefauver's homespun style when he entered—and won—the New Hampshire primaries of 1952 and 1956.

SHE VISITED beauty shops and barber shops, super markets and five-and-dimes. She strolled the streets of Concord, Manchester, Salem, Nashua and other towns to stop voters, extend her unglued hand and tell them softly: "I'm Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, and I'm running for president."

Asked about reports that she was "fronting for Goldwater," Sen. Smith told the reporter, her blue eyes snapping: "Would I be getting up at 6 a.m., and on the run until midnight every night if I weren't serious?"

"Furthermore I have no brief for those who say I'm merely muddying the waters."

Democratic Boner

By David Lawrence

Wheat Sale Seen Foreign Policy Mistake

The Kennedy - Johnson administration will be held responsible by many voters next November for one of the biggest boners in foreign policy that a State Department has ever allowed to happen. It was the consent given to the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union and David Lawrence other Communist countries, notwithstanding the "cold war."

This move has proved a boomerang. It has started a wave of deals whereby Great Britain and France and other countries have begun not only to export goods to Cuba but to help build factories for the Russians which can be indirectly of aid to them in preparing for war.

The late President Kennedy, in a press conference on Oct. 9 last, said of the wheat deal that it was not a government-to-government transaction, that credits would be granted by banks, and that "the grain dealers will take the risk with the private banks."

The total impression given at the time was that the United States would not grant any subsidy or any credits.

It turns out that the U.S. government has guaranteed the loans which the banks made, and members of Congress have revealed that in one particular sale, involving 37 million bushels of wheat at a price of $78.5 million, there was a subsidy by the United States government of a little more than $24 million.

SENATOR Everett Dirksen, Republican minority leader, now says:

"The wheat deal with the Soviet Union, initiated last October and currently being feverishly pursued by the Johnson administration, is doing far greater damage to American foreign policy than it is good to the American economy."

"The chain of events which has followed this reversal of our economic policy toward Russia shows how costly the decision has been. It has all but destroyed our economic blockade of Cuba, a result forecast by Rep. Halleck (R-Ind.) on Oct. 2 last year when he said: 'If the Kennedy administration puts its stamp of approval on sale of wheat to the Soviets, how can our government expect to persuade other nations not to trade with Cuba in the future?'"

"The truth now is upon us. We no longer can persuade them."

"Our ally, France, is reportedly negotiating a $10 million truck deal with Cuba. Our ally, Spain, is negotiating for the sale of 100 fishing vessels and two freighters to Cuba. Our ally, Great Britain, has sold 400 buses to Cuba over our protest, and another 600 are on order."

"Four British airliners are being reconditioned for Cuba. Now negotiations are underway for British delivery of $14 million in heavy road-building machinery to Castro."

"Worse yet, France has recognized Red China. Equally bad, our NATO agreement limiting credit to five years to the Communist nations is on the verge of collapse."

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Ed Hayden, postmaster at the Midland post office since 1934, retired, and was honored at a dinner by the postal workers.

East Liverpool business and industrial activity got off to a slow start in January, with employment lagging 11 per cent behind the first month of 1953.

"While France, Italy and West Germany watch, Britain is now negotiating a 15-year credit with the Soviets for $448 million in fertilizer and chemical plants. Japan is considering credits and trade with Red China."

"THESE NATIONS use the wheat deal as an excuse. Britain's Prime Minister Home stood on the White House steps last week and made it clear the British intend to trade with the Communist nations. Former Prime Minister Ishibashi, a leading Japanese advocate of trade with Red China, has hailed the wheat deal as the 'big turning point' in making trade with Communist nations possible."

"In short, the wheat deal is turning into a diplomatic nightmare. Nothing has so undermined our leadership of the free world in a score of years."

Rep. Halleck, leader of the Republicans in the House, in a separate statement, draws attention to the boycott by Maritime Unions in the United States against loading wheat for shipment to the Soviet Union. He points out that nearly 75 per cent of the wheat shipped so far has been on foreign vessels, despite the White House pledge that at least 50 per cent of the deliveries would be in American ships.

He also estimates that more than $40 million in subsidies will have been paid by American taxpayers in connection with the wheat deal.

Meanwhile, the Department of State seems to be in a state of confusion. At first it was hinted that Americans were so annoyed over the British export of goods to Cuba that it was possible there would be a boycott on the part of consumers in this country who have previously been buying products manufactured by the British companies doing business with Cuba. But now a spokesman for the Department of State says: "The United States does not favor consumer boycotts."

THIS APPARENTLY is the result of an unfavorable reaction abroad. Yet, on Feb. 15, in a specially prepared broadcast around the world distributed by the Voice of America, Secretary Rusk said:

"Well, we don't ourselves plan to organize any boycott against the goods of countries that may be engaged in (that the Cuban) trade. I think it is possible there may be some consumer reaction here in this country, here and there with respect to firms that specifically engage in that trade. But that's something that is in the hands of private citizens; we have no part in that ourselves."

There were hints from other government officials to the same effect and an indication that the State Department approved of the boycott, but apparently complaints caused the State Department to back down.

It's this backing and filling which has encouraged foreign governments to take matters in their own hands, knowing full well that they will not meet any real opposition from the American government. The principal reason for this, of course, is that the State Department has been checkmated by its own blunder in allowing wheat to be sold to the Soviet Union.

The Virginia Farmer

George Washington was made heroic by events. He was no hero by choice. He chose to be a Virginia Farmer. Events made him a soldier-statesman.

In the long-term evolution of truth in history, we finally may get rid of legends about our greatest men and depend on the truth to show what made them great.

It is possible to go off the rocker taking too seriously reports of trouble in every little unwashed nation on earth, so I suggest to people I think may be cracking up that they think of trouble as a constant in human affairs and blame the impression that it never was this bad before on the most intensive news coverage of trouble spots ever achieved. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine has firmly implanted her trade marks—high heels and red roses—as symbols of presidential politics nearly as well known as former President Eisenhower's grin or Sen. Estes Kefauver's con-skin cap.

She did so with a 1,000-mile sweep of New Hampshire last week which was easily the daintiest national campaign trip of the century.

The delicate-looking senator is out to make an impressive showing against a field of male opponents in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary March 10.

She started her campaign in sub-zero weather and before dawn last Feb. 10, near the headwaters of the Connecticut River—farther north than any of her rivals have ventured. While Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, her chief GOP opponents were barnstorming with planes, banners, buttons and sound trucks, Mrs. Smith drove quietly about by private car, like a favorite auntie calling on relatives.

SHE USED none of the normal accouterments of politics. No hands blared, no rallies were staged, and few speeches were made. Mrs. Smith's schedule itself seems to grow out of the ether as she and her two aids—William Lewis and Bill (not William) Deachman—drove from New Hampshire's north country through the center of the state and on to Keene, in the southwest corner, where she concluded her initial, six-day presidential stumping tour.

She was so impressed with the "warmth" of her reception in the Granite State that she vowed to return often before the March 10 voting, even if it means marring her prized attendance record in the Senate: she has answered more than 1,500 roll calls, and missed only one, since being elected in 1948.

The handsome silver-haired lady of 66 is the first woman to seek the presidential nomination in the 20th century. Two others tried it in campaigns of 1872 and 1884, respectively, Victoria Claflin Woodhull, who espoused free love and spiritualism, and Belva Ann Lockwood, a more sedate Washington lawyer. Their campaigns hardly got off the boards.

SEN. SMITH may not win, place or show in 1964, but already she's making such a mark that two of her ambitions will probably be recognized. She has said she hopes to end "any political bigotry against women" and to "pioneer the way for a woman to be elected president in the future." She also probably wants to figure seriously as a 1964 vice presidential candidate, and there are no vice presidential primaries.

Often losing a handful of trailing reporters who could not always fathom her extemporized itinerary, Mrs. Smith adopted a technique that smacked of Kefauver's homespun style when he entered—and won—the New Hampshire primaries of 1952 and 1956.

SHE VISITED beauty shops and barber shops, super markets and five-and dimes. She strolled the streets of Concord, Manchester, Salem, Nashua and other towns to stop voters, extend her unglued hand and tell them softly: "I'm Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, and I'm running for president."

Asked about reports that she was "fronting for Goldwater," Sen. Smith told the reporter, her blue eyes snapping: "Would I be getting up at 6 a.m., and on the run until midnight every night if I weren't serious?"

"Furthermore I have no brief for those who say I'm merely muddying the waters."

Democratic Boner

By David Lawrence

Wheat Sale Seen Foreign Policy Mistake

The Kennedy - Johnson administration will be held responsible by many voters next November for one of the biggest boners in foreign policy that a State Department has ever allowed to happen. It was the consent given to the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union and David Lawrence other Communist countries, notwithstanding the "cold war."

This move has proved a boomerang. It has started a wave of deals whereby Great Britain and France and other countries have begun not only to export goods to Cuba but to help build factories for the Russians which can be indirectly of aid to them in preparing for war.

The late President Kennedy, in a press conference on Oct. 9 last, said of the wheat deal that it was not a government-to-government transaction, that credits would be granted by banks, and that "the grain dealers will take the risk with the private banks."

The total impression given at the time was that the United States would not grant any subsidy or any credits.

It turns out that the U.S. government has guaranteed the loans which the banks made, and members of Congress have revealed that in one particular sale, involving 37 million bushels of wheat at a price of $78.5 million, there was a subsidy by the United States government of a little more than $24 million.

SENATOR Everett Dirksen, Republican minority leader, now says:

"The wheat deal with the Soviet Union, initiated last October and currently being feverishly pursued by the Johnson administration, is doing far greater damage to American foreign policy than it is good to the American economy."

"The chain of events which has followed this reversal of our economic policy toward Russia shows how costly the decision has been. It has all but destroyed our economic blockade of Cuba, a result forecast by Rep. Halleck (R-Ind.) on Oct. 2 last year when he said: 'If the Kennedy administration puts its stamp of approval on sale of wheat to the Soviets, how can our government expect to persuade other nations not to trade with Cuba in the future?'"

"The truth now is upon us. We no longer can persuade them."

"Our ally, France, is reportedly negotiating a $10 million truck deal with Cuba. Our ally, Spain, is negotiating for the sale of 100 fishing vessels and two freighters to Cuba. Our ally, Great Britain, has sold 400 buses to Cuba over our protest, and another 600 are on order."

"Four British airliners are being reconditioned for Cuba. Now negotiations are underway for British delivery of $14 million in heavy road-building machinery to Castro."

"Worse yet, France has recognized Red China. Equally bad, our NATO agreement limiting credit to five years to the Communist nations is on the verge of collapse."

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Peabody Lodge 19, Knights of Pythias, marked the 70th anniversary of the founding of the organization with Asa Barrett as chairman in charge of arrangements.

The Chester Junior Women's Club was organized, with Miss Helen Young president.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana succeeded Michael K. Duty of Wellsville as a member of the Columbiana County election board.

Pleasant Heights Home and School Association voted to cooperate with the Board of Education in its proposal for financing completion of the gymnasium - auditorium.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Ed Hayden, postmaster at the Midland post office since 1934, retired, and was honored at a dinner by the postal workers.

East Liverpool business and industrial activity got off to a slow start in January, with employment lagging 11 per cent behind the first month of 1953.

Miss Shirley Brown of Lisbon was among seven candidates for the title of Buckeye Queen of the Junior Order of

"While France, Italy and West Germany watch, Britain is now negotiating a 15-year credit with the Soviets for $448 million in fertilizer and chemical plants. Japan is considering credits and trade with Red China."

"THESE NATIONS use the wheat deal as an excuse. Britain's Prime Minister Home stood on the White House steps last week and made it clear the British intend to trade with the Communist nations. Former Prime Minister Ishibashi, a leading Japanese advocate of trade with Red China, has hailed the wheat deal as the 'big turning point' in making trade with Communist nations possible."

"In short, the wheat deal is turning into a diplomatic nightmare. Nothing has so undermined our leadership of the free world in a score of years."

Rep. Halleck, leader of the Republicans in the House, in a separate statement, draws attention to the boycott by Maritime Unions in the United States against loading wheat for shipment to the Soviet Union. He points out that nearly 75 per cent of the wheat shipped so far has been on foreign vessels, despite the White House pledge that at least 50 per cent of the deliveries would be in American ships.

He also estimates that more than $40 million in subsidies will have been paid by American taxpayers in connection with the wheat deal.

Meanwhile, the Department of State seems to be in a state of confusion. At first it was hinted that Americans were so annoyed over the British export of goods to Cuba that it was possible there would be a boycott on the part of consumers in this country who have previously been buying products manufactured by the British companies doing business with Cuba. But now a spokesman for the Department of State says: "The United States does not favor consumer boycotts."

THIS APPARENTLY is the result of an unfavorable reaction aboard. Yet, on Feb. 15, in a specially prepared broadcast around the world distributed by the Voice of America, Secretary Rusk said:

"Well, we don't ourselves plan to organize any boycott against the goods of countries that may be engaged in that (the Cuban) trade. I think it is possible there may be some consumer reaction here in this country, here and there with respect to firms that specifically engage in that trade. But that's something that is in the hands of private citizens; we have no part in that ourselves."

There were hints from other government officials to the same effect and an indication that the State Department approved of the boycott, but apparently complaints caused the State Department to back down.

It's this backing and filling which has encouraged foreign governments to take matters in their own hands, knowing full well that they will not meet any real opposition from the American government. The principal reason for this, of course, is that the State Department has been checkmated by its own blunder in allowing wheat to be sold to the Soviet Union.

Questions Cited In Scrolls Study By Lions Guest

Some of the questions being debated by Biblical scholars since the discovery of the Dead Sea scrolls were posed for the Lions Club Friday afternoon by the Rev. M. Rudolph Miller.

The 1947 discovery in a cave on the banks of the Dead Sea in Jordan has raised many questions but offers the scholars the earliest record on which to base their studies, the pastor of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church said at the meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

Among the questions, Rev. Miller said, is whether Matthew or John wrote the first book of the New Testament. Before the discovery, it always had been believed that Matthew, Mark and Luke wrote their books some time before John.

Another question is how the Essenes, whose monastic community has been found in the area where the scrolls were discovered, might have influenced the life of Jesus, Rev. Miller said.

He was introduced by Dr. Fraser Jackson, program chairman.

John T. Smith, president, announced a rehearsal for the fifth annual minstrel show March 21 at Westgate School will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

The Lenten Story

BY WOODY ISHMAEL

THE GREATEST COMMANDMENT

In their anxiety to trip Jesus up and catch Him in error, the Scribes and the Pharisees posed many tricky questions. One day they asked Him, "Which is the first commandment of all?"

And Jesus answered: "The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord; and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment."

"And the second is like unto this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Mark XII:29-30)

Love of God and love of neighbor—on this rock resides all of the power that faith can bestow.

Voting Ward Ruling Eyed

Hancock County commissioners plan to seek an opinion from the state's attorney general on the question of five voting wards in Weirton where the boundaries are overlapping.

Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson will be asked to advise commissioners on the legal steps they may take to correct the situation, acting in behalf of Dick Wright of Chester, Democrat, and James Ravoir of Weirton, Republican, chairmen of their party executive committees.

Sixty-six candidates will be on the ballot in the May 12 primary for posts on the executive committees.

In five of Weirton's seven wards, the ward boundaries do not correspond with the county precinct boundaries, and it is felt that the overlapping will cause confusion in the ward voting in the primary.

Plans to seek an opinion from Robertson on legal steps possible to correct the situation were made at a meeting of the party chiefs and commissioners Friday night in the Courthouse.

A letter to Robertson will be drafted by Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr and signed by Dan Grossi, clerk of Circuit Court, who is chief ballot commissioner. Deadline for preparing the ballots is April 11.

Employees Given Time For Change In City Insurance

Auditor Lawrence Zollinger notified city employees today a so-called "open time" for changes in city hospital insurance policies will expire Feb. 29 and alterations then will not be permitted again until March 1965.

Present employees not covered by the plan may apply for admission during the "open time." New employees may apply within 30 days after they are added to the payroll.

Children who have reached 19 may be continued under coverage upon application, subject to a premium increase. So-called "sponsored dependents"—mother, father, brother, sister or children 19 and over—may be added to the plan if they are living under the same roof with the employee. The additional premiums must be paid direct to the company.

Changes in family status also should be reported before Feb. 29, Zollinger said. A spouse may be added to the plan during the month of marriage or within 30 days afterward. If that deadline is not met, the employee must wait until the next reopening of the policy.

BACKGROUND FOR MARRIAGE

Next year George will be a civil engineer from Tech. And Meredith is studying Home Economics at State.

If you were their parents, wouldn't you consider that a pretty good background for marriage? Boy with a promising profession! Girl with a sound grasp of the family budget!

But should we be so naive? What they study in college is foreground, not background. It equips our sons and daughters for the immediate opportunities and obligations the future presents.

The permanence of love is not rooted in engineering or economics. Designing bridges and planning menus are not keys to a lasting happy marriage.

Personal character determines the ability of a man and woman to meet the demands of sacrifice and unselfishness that marriage requires. The Church molds character as it builds faith. For character is one of the by-products of faith...

... The ability to love unselfishly is another!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

liams, vice president, was escorted by Bob Milligan. Miss Karen Gitschier, secretary, was unable to attend.

Seventy couples attended, plus faculty representatives and other guests. The decorative theme was "Our Winter Love." The gymnasium was decorated in ice blue and white, highlighted by snow-covered imitation trees. The walls were covered with make-believe snowflakes.

Music was furnished by Scotty Young and his Big Five. Co-chairmen of the dance were Miss Mary Jane Milligan and Miss Karen Maylone.

Employees Given Time For Change In City Insurance

Auditor Lawrence Zollinger notified city employees today a so-called "open time" for changes in city hospital insurance policies will expire Feb. 29 and alterations then will not be permitted again until March 1965.

Present employees not covered by the plan may apply for admission during the "open time." New employees may apply within 30 days after they are added to the payroll.

Children who have reached 19 may be continued under coverage upon application, subject to a premium increase. So-called "sponsored dependents"—mother, father, brother, sister or children 19 and over—may be added to the plan if they are living under the same roof with the employee. The additional premiums must be paid direct to the company.

Changes in family status also should be reported before Feb. 29, Zollinger said. A spouse may be added to the plan during the month of marriage or within 30 days afterward. If that deadline is not met, the employee must wait until the next reopening of the policy.

Landscaping School Slated For Weirton

BACKGROUND FOR MARRIAGE

Next year George will be a civil engineer from Tech. And Meredith is studying Home Economics at State.

If you were their parents, wouldn't you consider that a pretty good background for marriage? Boy with a promising profession! Girl with a sound grasp of the family budget!

But should we be so naive? What they study in college is foreground, not background. It equips our sons and daughters for the immediate opportunities and obligations the future presents.

The permanence of love is not rooted in engineering or economics. Designing bridges and planning menus are not keys to a lasting happy marriage.

Personal character determines the ability of a man and woman to meet the demands of sacrifice and unselfishness that marriage requires. The Church molds character as it builds faith. For character is one of the by-products of faith...

... The ability to love unselfishly is another!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

During 1770 Ohio River Trip

G. Washington Slept Here

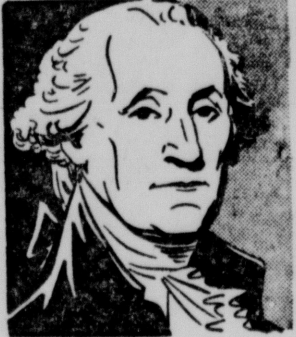

The snow began to drift against their canoes and the chilled party of Virginians and Indians finally pushed out into the Ohio River about 7:30 a. m., their leader — George Washington — appraising the passing shore, the future site of East Liverpool.

This was in October 1770 as the Virginia planter ventured down the Ohio, scouting land for himself and his former fellow veterans of the French and Indian War.

Washington — who was to provide the military leadership of the American Revolution and who would be the new nation's first president — was in the Ohio Valley because of the need for money.

The tall aristocrat had suffered some difficulties on his fields — tobacco had not grown well on his land, and he had to begin raising wheat. The Virginia way of life was expensive, he had burdensome taxes, the cost of being elected to the legislature was not small and his code called for generous lending of money to needy friends.

Under a decree by Gov. Dinwiddie of 1754, the volunteers in the first Virginia regiment of the frontier war were entitled to lands in the new West.

WASHINGTON DECIDED to claim some of this rich forest land, and offered a partnership to a friend, William Crawford. The members of his regiment agreed to pay for the cost of the expedition to the Ohio if he would also scout the region for their claims.

He traveled to Pittsburgh, memories of his battle at Ft. Necessity in 1754 and the defeat of Gen. Braddock in 1755 much in his thoughts.

Washington assembled equipment and provisions, and on Oct. 20 started down the Ohio. In his canoe were Dr. James Craik, his friend and physician who was with him on the Braddock expedition; Crawford; Joseph Nicholson, who had been in the western lands before and had served as an Indian translator, and Robert Bell, William Harrison, Charles Morgan and Daniel Reardon, a youth.

Their Indian companions were in a second canoe.

The party camped north of present Ambridge that night, and resumed its trip the next day, Oct. 21 — a Sunday.

By 11 a. m. they were at the mouth of the Beaver River, and soon came to Raccoon Creek where Washington later noted in his diary "there is a body of good land."

From Raccoon Creek to Little Beaver Creek appears to me to be a little short of 10 miles, and about 3 miles below this we incamped; after hiding a Barrel of Bisquit in an island (in Sight) to lighten our Canoe." This was apparently Babb's Island.

WASHINGTON WROTE: "Monday, Oct. 22. As it began to Snow about Midnight, and continued pretty steady at it, it was about 1/2 after Seven before we left our encampment."

"At the distance of about eight miles, we came to the mouth of Yellow Creek opposite to or rather below which appears to be a long bottom of very good land and the ascent (sic) to the Hill apparently gradual." He was referring to the present site of Waterford Park.

"There is another pretty large bottom of very good land about two or 3 miles above this," the Virginian wrote, pinpointing present Wellsville.

On the party went, inspecting land, making some side trips, reaching the present Point Pleasant, then returning up the river as far as Mingo where they met their horses and went to Pittsburgh, Washington reaching his home in Virginia weeks later.

A number of years were to pass and some gigantic historical changes were to take place before the Ohio Valley began to develop. As Washington passed the mouth of the Beaver River, he commented — and later wrote — "The unsettled state of this Country renders any purchase dangerous."

But he recognized the value of this valley — had even before his bid to control the forks of the Allegheny and Monongahela with the Virginia troops caught at Ft. Necessity.

There is no mystery today about Washington's fulfillment of leadership nor about the role of the valley in the nation's growth.

The mystery lies only about who . . . if anyone . . . ever found that Barrel of Bisquit . . .

Tad Doland, 10, of Orchard Grove Ave., dressed as George Washington, looks over the Ohio River and Babb's Island where the nation's first president passed in 1770.

Police Simplify Records

Capt. Pete Trainer Checks New Card File At Wellsville

By HARRY STEWART
Police protection involves a lot more than a patrolman riding around in a cruiser all day.

Among area officers who can testify to that is Capt. Pete Trainer of Wellsville, who has just completed a new filing system for the Wellsville department.

In past years, the department's records included large brochures and dockets on anyone arrested for a major crime. These become bulky as they accumulated.

UNDER THE new system set up by the captain, all the information from the dockets and the brochures was "boiled down" and put on small filing cards. Trainer spent one year checking through the dockets of the last 10 years to bring the files up to date.

With the help of the new system, an officer can obtain a quick reference on the background of anyone who has been cited. Any new information can be added and the entire system can be kept up to date more conveniently.

Among the information included is the known companions of anyone having been arrested previously on a criminal charge. This gives a cross reference for future use in other possible offenses.

The cards have proved invaluable because it can be determined on a short notice if a suspect has ever been in court before and on what charges.

Trainer also scans newspapers, and anytime he finds charges made against an individual in another town it is noted on the file cards. The information is made available to county authorities and other enforcement officer in the area.

COPIES OF violations and the cards are also sent to the London Bureau of Identification. The Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington also gets copies.

Cards of deceased violators also are kept, but in a separate file. "You never can tell when a relative may need a specific date or background information," the captain commented. Any correspondence on a specific individual also is filed.

He said it was necessary to devise quicker systems of filing because of the many hours spent in book work, etc. Larger brochures still are kept where necessary.

Trainer said it takes about an hour to do the paper work on a minor violation, even a traffic citation. The officer has to write the original ticket, type out the docket, type out the file card, make a report in the daily log and then spend time testifying.

Police Chief John Hepner said many hours are spent by himself and his officers in courtrooms giving testimony on cases. All this eats into the time an officer can spend in regular police work and patrolling the community.

An officer also must keep abreast of new laws, various interpretations, etc., the chief said. They must read materials provided by the state attorney general and other agencies. New methods of police control also must be studied and applied where possible he pointed out.

The Law

Before our modern idea of evidence in science, in daily affairs and in our courtrooms, men did strange things to "test" truth in a court trial. Our notion of evidence in law courts is actually only a few centuries old. It entered court procedure at about the same time that Galileo and Newton used scientific evidence to upset older theories of nature.

Before then, men talked to prophets and fortune tellers before they acted. These men might look into the sky and find out how many and what kind of birds flew in from what quarter or look at the charred entrails of sacrificial animals to determine the "facts."

In the middle ages, Court tests for truth were many, but somewhat drastic. You might dispute with your neighbor over land. If so, the court might order a test by ordeal. The contestants would walk through fire.

They might be tied and cast into water or you might meet your opponent with sword and shield. You or your agent might fight it out with your neighbor on the theory that Providence would not let the unjust win. Perhaps you both grasped a red hot iron or walked barefoot through hot coals. If you came out without blisters, they believed your story.

As you can see, few people went to court of their own will. The risks were many, not the kind you'd choose.

Later in England, where we got most of our law, men had other ways to reach decisions. For example, take the "oath - helpers." Suppose your case was to be tried. You took with you a fixed number of men called "oath-helpers." Oath - helpers would swear by all that's holy that you were a man of your word.

After that, you would swear that your neighbor had wronged you. In turn he would bring his oath-helpers and do the same.

The White House wants to know where Babb's Island is. DeGaulle says he's going to recognize it.

3 Generations At College

Faithful To Marietta . . .

Three living generations of one family who attended the same college is a distinction held by the Brokaws of East Liverpool's Northside.

His son, County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, was graduated from the college in 1941, and his grandsons, William L. and George T. (Tom), are currently students—William a pre-law junior who recently achieved the dean's list, and Tom a freshman in liberal arts.

The college recently took note of the unusual three-generation situation in a campus publication.

More From The Mail Bag

The recent Review story about the Risinger gaslights made in East Liverpool cast a long shadow.

Interest in the antique lamps continues to "flicker" and additional information has been received about the Risinger business from Mrs. James E. MacDonald, the former Lois E. Risinger, of Mentor.

Her letter to Charles R. Cronin, Review reporter who compiled the original story on the old gaslights, follows:

"Through the Years I have received many clippings from the Review, and recently Mrs. W. O. MacDonald of East Liverpool thoughtfully sent two concerning the Risinger gaslights."

"I have in my possession a catalogue that can 'shed some light' on the topic and perhaps settle any controversy as to the location. The following I copy from the front of that catalogue:

"The Risinger Manufacturing Co., 101 E. 5th St., and 217 Broadway, East Liverpool, Ohio; Manufacturers of Gas Arc Lamps and Burners of Unusual Brillancy."

"The catalogue, printed by the James Betz Printing Co. of East Liverpool, contains no date of publication."

"You will find that 217 Broadway was the corner of Broadway and 5th St., across from the Post Office. Of course, the old building was torn down many years ago. That was the home of the Risinger arc lamp. Evidently when the brothers moved to 101 E. 5th St., both locations were used for awhile."

"In addition to various models of arc lamps and burners which are pictured, described and priced, the catalogue price list includes such items as arc globes, shades and reflectors, both loop and cap mantles, canopies, anti-vibration coils and nickel plated casing priced per foot."

"A lamp very similar to the one shown in the Review photograph was used as a porch light on the front porch of our home in East Liverpool."

"Dominating the scene is a Risinger Arc Lamp suspended from the porch ceiling.

Even the roll - rim smoke shade shows clearly in the picture. This dates that particular model as being in production previous to my birthdate, 1906."

"Quite a few years ago, my husband, Jim and I saw a Risinger gaslight auctioned at an antique sale in Chagrin Falls. It was the No. 2 improved outside lamp. Though we bid to our limit, a Cleveland couple outbid us."

"And, not so many years ago, we enjoyed a visit to the Museum in the Library on 4th St. in East Liverpool. There on display was a Risinger globe. Just a globe, no fixture. If more of the Risinger lamps turn up as a result of your attention to the subject, let's hope that a complete one in good condition will find its way to the museum to be preserved and displayed with the many other hometown products and wares of which East Liverpool can be justly proud."

"It has indeed been a real joy to read your recent newspaper articles which stir such pleasant memories."

Among the information included is the known companions of anyone having been arrested previously on a criminal charge. This gives a cross reference for future use in other possible offenses.

The cards have proved invaluable because it can be determined on a short notice if a suspect has ever been in court before and on what charges.

Trainer also scans newspapers, and anytime he finds charges made against an individual in another town it is noted on the file cards. The information is made available to county authorities and other enforcement officer in the area.

COPIES OF violations and the cards are also sent to the London Bureau of Identification. The Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington also gets copies.

Cards of deceased violators also are kept, but in a separate file. "You never can tell when a relative may need a specific date or background information," the captain commented. Any correspondence on a specific individual also is filed.

He said it was necessary to devise quicker systems of filing because of the many hours spent in book work, etc. Larger brochures still are kept where necessary.

Trainer said it takes about an hour to do the paper work on a minor violation, even a traffic citation. The officer has to write the original ticket, type out the docket, type out the file card, make a report in the daily log and then spend time testifying.

Police Chief John Hephner said many hours are spent by himself and his officers in courtrooms giving testimony on cases. All this eats into the time an officer can spend in regular police work and patrolling the community.

An officer also must keep abreast of new laws, various interpretations, etc., the chief said. They must read materials provided by the state attorney general and other agencies. New methods of police control also must be studied and applied where possible he pointed out.

The Law

Before our modern idea of evidence in science, in daily affairs and in our courtrooms, men did strange things to "test" truth in a court trial. Our notion of evidence in law courts is actually only a few centuries old. It entered court procedure at about the same time that Galileo and Newton used scientific evidence to upset older theories of nature.

Before then, men talked to prophets and fortune tellers before they acted. These men might look into the sky and find out how many and what kind of birds flew in from what quarter or look at the charred entrails of sacrificial animals to determine the "facts."

In the middle ages, Court tests for truth were many, but somewhat drastic. You might dispute with your neighbor over land. If so, the court might order a test by ordeal. The contestants would walk through fire.

They might be tied and cast into water or you might meet your opponent with sword and shield. You or your agent might fight it out with your neighbor on the theory that Providence would not let the unjust win. Perhaps you both grasped a red hot iron or walked barefoot through hot coals. If you came out without blisters, they believed your story.

As you can see, few people went to court of their own will. The risks were many, not the kind you'd choose.

Later in England, where we got most of our law, men had other ways to reach decisions. For example, take the "oath - helpers." Suppose your case was to be tried. You took with you a fixed number of men called "oath-helpers." Oath - helpers would swear by all that's holy that you were a man of your word.

After that, you would swear that your neighbor had wronged you. In turn he would bring his oath-helpers and do the same.

3 Generations At College

Faithful To Marietta . . .

Three living generations of one family who attended the same college is a distinction held by the Brokaws of East Liverpool's Northside.

His son, County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, was graduated from the college in 1941, and his grandsons, William L. and George T. (Tom), are currently students—William a pre-law junior who recently achieved the dean's list, and Tom a freshman in liberal arts.

The college recently took note of the unusual three-generation situation in a campus publication.

More From The Mail Bag

The recent Review story about the Risinger gaslights made in East Liverpool cast a long shadow.

Interest in the antique lamps continues to "flicker" and additional information has been received about the Risinger business from Mrs. James E. MacDonald, the former Lois E. Risinger, of Mentor.

Her letter to Charles R. Cronin, Review reporter who compiled the original story on the old gaslights, follows:

"Through the Years I have received many clippings from the Review, and recently Mrs. W. O. MacDonald of East Liverpool thoughtfully sent two concerning the Risinger gaslights."

"I have in my possession a catalogue that can 'shed some light' on the topic and perhaps settle any controversy as to the location. The following I copy from the front of that catalogue:

"The Risinger Manufacturing Co., 101 E. 5th St., and 217 Broadway, East Liverpool, Ohio; Manufacturers of Gas Arc Lamps and Burners of Unusual Brillancy."

"The catalogue, printed by the James Betz Printing Co. of East Liverpool, contains no date of publication."

"You will find that 217 Broadway was the corner of Broadway and 5th St., across from the Post Office. Of course, the old building was torn down many years ago. That was the home of the Risinger arc lamp. Evidently when the brothers moved to 101 E. 5th St., both locations were used for awhile."

"In addition to various models of arc lamps and burners which are pictured, described and priced, the catalogue price list includes such items as arc globes, shades and reflectors, both loop and cap mantles, canopies, anti-vibration coils and nickel plated casing priced per foot."

"A lamp very similar to the one shown in the Review photograph was used as a porch light on the front porch of our home in East Liverpool."

"Dominating the scene is a Risinger Arc Lamp suspended from the porch ceiling

Even the roll - rim smoke shade shows clearly in the picture. This dates that particular model as being in production previous to my birth-date, 1906."

"Quite a few years ago, my husband, Jim and I saw a Risinger gaslight auctioned at an antique sale in Chagrin Falls. It was the No. 2 improved outside lamp. Though we bid to our limit, a Cleveland couple outbid us."

"And, not so many years ago, we enjoyed a visit to the Museum in the Library on 4th St. in East Liverpool. There on display was a Risinger globe. Just a globe, no fixture. If more of the Risinger lamps turn up as a result of your attention to the subject, let's hope that a complete one in good condition will find its way to the museum to be preserved and displayed with the many other hometown products and wares of which East Liverpool can be justly proud."

"It has indeed been a real joy to read your recent newspaper articles which stir such pleasant memories."

West Virginia's Centennial Train Goes Wild West

The centennial train is coming back to West Virginia, but you may not recognize it.

The train, used last year during the West Virginia Centennial and then sold to Montana, is being outfitted at Billings, Mont.

City Hospital Increased Many Services During 1963

Facility Gives Annual Report

East Liverpool City Hospital provided service for 27,022 patients during 1963, Miss Nell Robinson, administrator, reported in her annual summary of hospital activities.

The year saw 6,287 adults and 1,550 children admitted, and 18,067 out-patients served. The latter included 6,880 emergencies, 6,430 given lab tests and 4,757 given X-rays.

ADMITTED patients were greater than 1962 when 6,129 adults and 1,442 children were registered.

The number of births continued to decline, a reflection of a national trend, Miss Robinson said. Births totaled 1,118—557 boys and 561 girls—down from the 1,151 births of 1962 which included 592 girls and 559 boys—and 13 sets of twins.

There were 10 sets of twins born in 1963. These included six sets of girls and four sets of boys and girls.

Miss Robinson said the service to in-patients and out-patients emphasizes the fact that the modern hospital of today provides far more than the mere housing, feeding and nursing care available less than a generation ago.

SHE said the report of the 1963 services represents in most cases an increase over all previous years.

The services, with 1962 figures in parentheses, included:

Major operations 783 (797); minor operations 1,994 (1,910); lab tests 84,897 (79,016); blood transfusions 767 (756); X-ray patients 11,698 (10,418)—this included 6,941 in-patients and 4,757 out-patients.

A total of 38,015 films were taken compared to 35,775 in 1962, and 2,369 fluoroscopic examinations taken, up from the 2,264 of the previous year.

THE AVERAGE stay of a patient was 6.7 days, the same as the previous year. Miss Robinson pointed out the average stay in U. S. hospitals in 1960 was 40 days, 20 years ago it was 16 days.

Beds utilized included 3,669 private rooms, 36,541 semi-private and 19,849 wards.

Patient days (or the days each patient occupied a bed) totaled 60,059—women 24,224, men 19,095, children 7,133, obstetrical 4,791 and newborn 4,816, including 910 premature baby days.

A total of 212,652 meals were served to patients and personnel, up from the 198,945 of 1962, and 480,000 pounds of laundry was processed, down from the 534,000 of the previous year.

IMPROVEMENTS made during the year included use of identification bands for adults as well as children; a recovery room for maternal patients by rearranging the obstetrical department; installation of heat exchangers in the boiler room to increase the hot water supply, and distribution of a booklet, "Information for Patients and Visitors."

Construction was launched on the Metcalf-Harker Residence and Educational Building for the School of Nursing, and is to be completed by mid-year.

Architectural plans were completed for the planned addition to the West Wing of the hospital for enlargement and modernization of the pediatrics and dietary departments, and applications are being processed for federal aid on the project.

THROUGH the year, $36,833

was spent for equipment for surgery, laboratory, X-ray department, general patient areas, medical records and business office and maintenance.

Staff members attended various seminars, workshops and district, state and national meetings, and participated in various Career Day at area schools to explain hospital employment opportunities.

The hospital received recognition in the annual report of the Ohio Committee on Trauma for its participation in a simulated emergency explosion disaster in October 1962 and for a program on emergency treatment of the acutely ill and severely injured in March 1963. A commendation was also received for providing fall-out shelter facilities in event of enemy attack.

THE HOSPITAL again received accreditation with the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals by meeting the standards of the national commission regarding practices and patient care.

The hospital employs 309, the largest group being in nursing service which provided 48,245 service days during the year, up from the 46,602 of 1962. The next largest employee group is in housekeeping which provided 7,380 days of service.

City Hospital is one of 274 U.S. and Canadian hospitals receiving electronic data processing of medical records from the non-profit data and research institute, the Commission on Professional and Hospital Activities.

IT IS ALSO one of the 7,028 hospitals classified by the American Hospital Association and one of the 5,685 in that association.

Fourteen were graduated from the School of Nursing last year when a total of 2,104 hours of formal instruction was given to the students. The enrollment of the school is 43.

The school offers a diploma program of three years, with special lectures from the medical staff and basic science courses taught at the College of Steubenville.

Experience in nursing care of children is obtained through an affiliation with Akron Children's Hospital and experience in theory and clinical care of the mentally ill is obtained through affiliation with Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown. A catalog was published in 1963.

MRS. SARAH Davis is director of the school and Miss Evelyn Exley is educational director. Mrs. Edna Jones is chairman of the advisory committee.

The teaching staff includes Mrs. Ila Shingler, Mrs. Elizabeth Elvered, Mrs. Shirley Gilkes, Mrs. Luella Kee, Mrs. Margaret Doyle, Mrs. Helen Conway, Mrs. Alice Allman and Mrs. Jane Gadd.

Volunteer workers again supplemented the hospital service programs, the auxiliary members providing 8,694 hours and 2,800 hours during the year.

These services included 9,408 hours at the snack bar, 368 hours doing surgical dressings, 139 for the Remembrance Fund, 851 hours for the "Pinkie" dolls given children, 313 hours in the gift shop, 400 hours on the bookmobile and 15 hours doing baby photos. This was a total of 11,494 hours of important help, Miss Robinson said.

THE GRAY ladies gave 11,158 hours of community service. Classes for 62 junior and adults members were held under the sponsorship of the Red Cross Chapter. A 10-hour orientation and instruction course was given.

The city Ministerial Association continued its chaplain program with the Rev. Joseph Varner.

Church organizations, clubs, youth groups and others aided patients in many projects, and nursing scholarship funds aided students in the School of Nursing.

In all, it was another year of increased service and broadened scope of activities for the hospital and the many who help further its vital health program for the whole area.

She Doesn't Show Her Age

The Newell Bridge . . . Still A Busy Gal At 58

By CHARLES R. CRONIN

Bridges, through long association, become personalities in their own right. And without stretching the imagination too much, the Newell Bridge can be looked on as a busy little lady who doesn't readily show her age.

Actually, her 59th birthday will come this summer, July 4 to be specific.

Application of fresh paint every few years and an occasional face-lifting since her debut as a toll span on Independence Day in 1905 have helped to disguise the wear and tear of serving 1,500 to 2,000 motorists daily.

Like any lady, she looks best on early summer evenings, when the rays from a setting sun westward down the Ohio River beam against her steely countenance.

She's not as glamorous as the Golden Gate, fabled in story and song, or the one in Brooklyn sold too often to a country yokel, but picturesque just the same.

Owned and operated by the Newell Bridge & Railway Co., the bridge is one of only six toll spans across the Ohio River that have one approach in the Buckeye State.

IT'S THE ONLY toll span between Freedom, Pa., to the north and Bellaire to the south. Two sister bridges are in the making to the north—but the chances are that neither will be toll spans.

An engineer would describe the Newell Bridge as a three-span, steel suspension bridge, supported on steel towers mounted on two stone piers in the Ohio River. The huge cables at either end are anchored in rock and concrete abutments.

The span connecting Newell and East Liverpool was born of necessity. The need materialized when Ohioans got jobs at the Homer Laughlin China Co. in Newell and were able to reach the plant by only the ferryboat, "Ollie Neville," or the Chester Bridge, which added an extra few miles to the trip.

Preliminary surveys for the bridge were launched in 1903 and excavation started for the approaches and abutments a year later.

E. K. Morse, a noted area river engineer of his day, was in charge of the work done by the Penn Bridge Co. of Beaver Falls, with the Ohio Steel Erecting Co. of Steubenville as sub-contractors.

MUCH OF THE rivet work was done by hand instead of with machines, because workmen contended the machines were not adapted to such jobs. The cables were strung in the middle of winter, rather than in the summer as is generally the case.

Nearby, work was under way on construction of Dam 8 and industrial plants were springing up on the south bank of the Ohio River.

Cost of the bridge was $250,000, according to record, by today's standards hardly enough to cover the expense of building a few feet of span. It was constructed in 13 months, a shorter time than the Chester Bridge, which was built in a year and five months.

This account of the opening of the bridge was carried on Page 1 of the July 5, 1905, issue of the East Liverpool Tribune:

"The work of laying the floors on the new Newell Bridge was completed at midnight July 3, and travel was opened the morning of July 4 and continued all day long."

"Several carriages were driven over and a few automobiles. It is said that at least a thousand persons passed over the bridge yesterday."

"It makes a delightful promenade and will be very enjoyable any of the coming July nights. This is the finest drive for pleasure out of the city."

TWO PROMINENT industrialists of the time were accorded the honor of being the first to officially cross the 1,592-foot-long span.

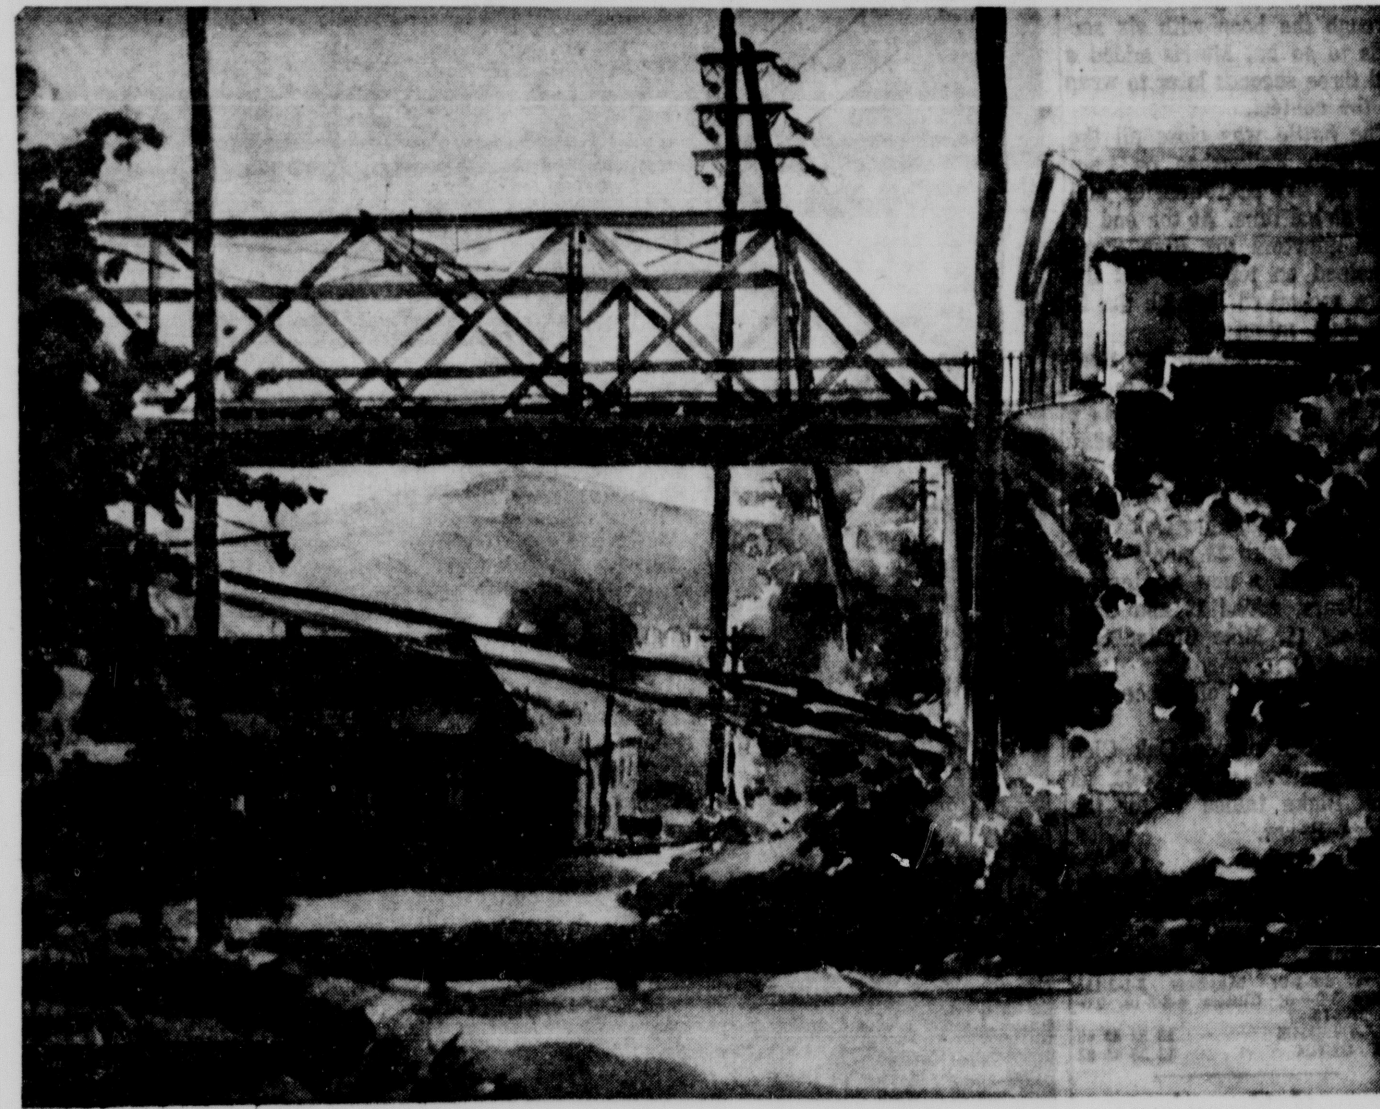

They were W. E. Wells, general manager and founder of the Homer Laughlin China Co., and E. M. Knowles, founder of the Knowles China Co., who made the trip in the auto of Wells.

Ten days after the first crossing, the North American Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary company of the pottery, invited more than 100 businessmen and professionals to cross over the bridge, over which two tracks had been laid, and to visit the site of Newell.

According to Tribune accounts, Fred B. Lawrence, superintendent of the firm, was in charge of the trip and visitors found Washington St. in Newell laid 70 feet wide for future heavy traffic and men already preparing a golf course, baseball field and tennis courts.

For many years, the bridge served a dual purpose—traffic and a means of which telephone circuits could cross into West Virginia from Ohio without being laid in the river bed. The phone cables were later installed in sealed tubes beneath the river.

THE COLOR OF the 1,600 gal-

THIS 1957 WATERCOLOR by Hans Hacker, East Liverpool artist, shows the north end of the Newell Bridge and toll house in an extinct view from the former W. 4th St. Ext. where the Freeway now passes.

lons of paint applied to the bridge every five or six years has not always been silver. Black paint was used until a few years ago when Glenn Hall, manager of the Newell Bridge & Railway Co., thought it was time for a change.

The job of painting the bridge generally takes six to eight weeks and costs the company roughly $20,000. Portions of the wooden sidewalk are also replaced from time to time with treated lumber.

There is an expansion "dam" in the center to allow for contraction or expansion of more than five inches, depending on the weather.

The bridge's original wooden flooring was replaced with new wood flooring in 1923 and some additional steel stringers were added. In 1954, the wood floor and streetcar rails were ripped up and a steel grill flooring installed.

Although the suspension span is 1,592 feet in length, with a channel span of 750 feet, 1,070 feet is in West Virginia territory. The width is 33 feet, 6 inches.

The volume of traffic using the bridge fluctuates from season to season, but generally speaking 1,500 to 2,000 vehicles will cross daily.

Traffic on the bridge hits its peak on holidays when racing is in season at Waterford Park. Hall estimates 3,000 vehicles use the span "on a really big day."

THE 10-CENT toll for autos has been in effect for a great number of years. Hall pointed out the toll at one time was 10 cents for each auto and a nickel for each additional passenger up to four.

Even with the 10-cent toll, the Newell Bridge was a salvation for area motorists between 1938 and 1951. In most of those years, the toll on the Chester Bridge was 25 cents and many local residents will recall they drove an extra couple of miles to work each morning to reach the span at Newell and save the span, or 30 if you count the trip back home in the evening.

The Chester Bridge was built in 1896 and operated privately until 1938, when purchased by the Ohio State Bridge Commission. It was made toll free on June 15, 1961.

There are five members of the "Toll House Gang" at the Newell Bridge. In order of seniority, they are William Clifford Beane, J. Alfred Bowyer, Willis O. Hall, Herbert Patton and Willis Campbell.

Glenn Hall, as manager of the company that owns the bridge, could be described as an authority on its history. If he has one problem with its operation, it would be pigeons and starlings, which roost in the tower nearest the Ohio shore. Their messing requires the tower to be scraped and painted each year.

INSPECTION of the span is not compulsory, but the company underwrites the cost of the job each spring. The contract was held by Modjeski & Masters of Harrisburg. The bridge is also inspected by Pennsylvania Railroad Co. officials, as it passes above the line to Kootenai.

There are five other toll bridges across the Ohio River that have one approach in the state of Ohio, according to the Bridge Commission in Columbus.

They are located at Portsmouth, Ironton, Belpre, Duffy and Bellaire. The Fort Steuben Bridge was made toll free Nov. 13, 1959.

Club Aids Lisbon

BPW Active In 2-Year Period

Community service has been a prime objective of the Lisbon Business & Professional Women's Club, which has achieved success in a number of projects since it was organized less than two years ago.

The first civic participation activity was sponsorship of a drive for the Mental Health Clinic, which collected $1,010—$210 over the goal of $800 for the Lisbon area. Mrs. E. O. Burson was chairman of the October 1962 campaign.

The club also sponsored a successful Cancer Fund drive in April 1963 and will conduct the drive again this spring. In December last year, the club sold decorative ribbon bows for the County Retarded Children's School.

Members are planning a telephone campaign to solicit donors of dogwood trees for beautifying the village, assisting the Civic Improvement Association.

A $25 annual award for the most deserving senior commercial student at David Anderson High School will be initiated this year. The club also has contributed to the CARE program for international relief aid.

The club's first organizational meeting was held in May 1962 with 10 prospective members. It was conducted by Mrs. Ethel Wambaugh of the East Liverpool BPW Club, the sponsoring group.

A "Charter Night" dinner was held in June 1962 with 40 members attending and with several state BPW officers present. Mrs. Byron Griffith was the charter president. Mrs. Annetta Courtney is president now.

The club holds a dinner meeting the first Wednesday of each month.

Members hope to maintain the pace of activities which have marked its history to date, pledging continued work for the betterment of the community, state and nation.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Do you have any tips for easier removal of old wallpaper from the walls?

A. Try using an ordinary paint roller, immersed in warm sudsy water, to soak the old wallpaper for removal. Pull the paper off with the aid of a painter's broad knife.

Q. How can I make a tastier pie crust?

A. Try adding just a bit of sugar to each cup of flour used in making your pie crust. It will improve the flavor, and also the texture of your crust.

Q. After oiling my sewing machine, how can I be sure to rid it of all excess oil before beginning my sewing?

A. By stitching a couple of lines or so through a blotter.

Cooking Hints

Chopped parsley, chives, paprika, lemon or lime juice added to melted butter, make delectable toppings for broiled fish, shrimp or lobsters.

Add a dash of curry powder to sour cream to turn it into a delightful topping for cream of chicken or cream of celery soup.

Fourteen were graduated from the School of Nursing last year when a total of 2,104 hours of formal instruction was given to the students. The enrollment of the school is 43.

The school offers a diploma program of three years, with special lectures from the medical staff and basic science courses taught at the College of Steubenville.

Experience in nursing care of children is obtained through an affiliation with Akron Children's Hospital and experience in theory and clinical care of the mentally ill is obtained through affiliation with Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown. A catalog was published in 1963.

MRS. SARAH Davis is director of the school and Miss Ethelyn Exley is educational director. Mrs. Edna Jones is chairman of the advisory committee.

The teaching staff includes Mrs. Ila Shingler, Mrs. Elizabeth Elverdy, Mrs. Shirley Gilkes, Mrs. Luella Kee, Mrs. Margaret Doyle, Mrs. Helen Conway, Mrs. Alice Allman and Mrs. Jane Gadd.

Volunteer workers again supplemented the hospital service programs, the auxiliary members providing 8,694 hours and Twig members 2,800 hours during the year.

These services included 9,408 hours at the snack bar, 368 hours doing surgical dressings, 139 for the Remembrance Fund, 851 hours for the "Pinkie" dolls given children, 313 hours in the gift shop, 400 hours on the bookmobile and 15 hours doing baby photos. This was a total of 11,494 hours of important help, Miss Robinson said.

THE GRAY ladies gave 11,158 hours of community service. Classes for 62 junior and adults members were held under the sponsorship of the Red Cross Chapter. A 10-hour orientation and instruction course was given.

The city Ministerial Association continued its chaplain program with the Rev. Joseph Varner.

Church organizations, clubs, youth groups and others aided patients in many projects, and nursing scholarship funds aided students in the School of Nursing.

In all, it was another year of increased service and broadened scope of activities for the hospital and the many who help further its vital health program for the whole area.

She Doesn't Show Her Age

The Newell Bridge . . . Still A Busy Gal At 58

By CHARLES R. CRONIN

Bridges, through long association, become personalities in their own right. And without stretching the imagination too much, the Newell Bridge can be looked on as a busy little lady who doesn't readily show her age.

Actually, her 59th birthday will come this summer, July 4 to be specific.

Application of fresh paint every few years and an occasional face-lifting since her debut as a toll span on Independence Day in 1905 have helped to disguise the wear and tear of serving 1,500 to 2,000 motorists daily.

Like any lady, she looks best on early summer evenings, when the rays from a setting sun westward down the Ohio River beam against her steely countenance.

She's not as glamorous as the Golden Gate, fabled in story and song, or the one in Brooklyn sold every so often to a country yokel, but picturesque just the same.

Owned and operated by the Newell Bridge & Railway Co., the bridge is one of only six toll spans across the Ohio River that have one approach in the Buckeye State.

IT'S THE ONLY toll span between Freedom, Pa., to the north and Bellaire to the south. Two sister bridges are in the making to the north — but the chances are that neither will be toll spans.

An engineer would describe the Newell Bridge as a three-span, steel suspension bridge, supported on steel towers mounted on two stone piers in the Ohio River. The huge cables at either end are anchored in rock and concrete abutments.

The span connecting Newell and East Liverpool was born of necessity. The need materialized when Ohioans got jobs at the Homer Laughlin China Co. in Newell and were able to reach the plant by only the ferryboat, "Ollie Neville," or the Chester Bridge, which added an extra few miles to the trip.

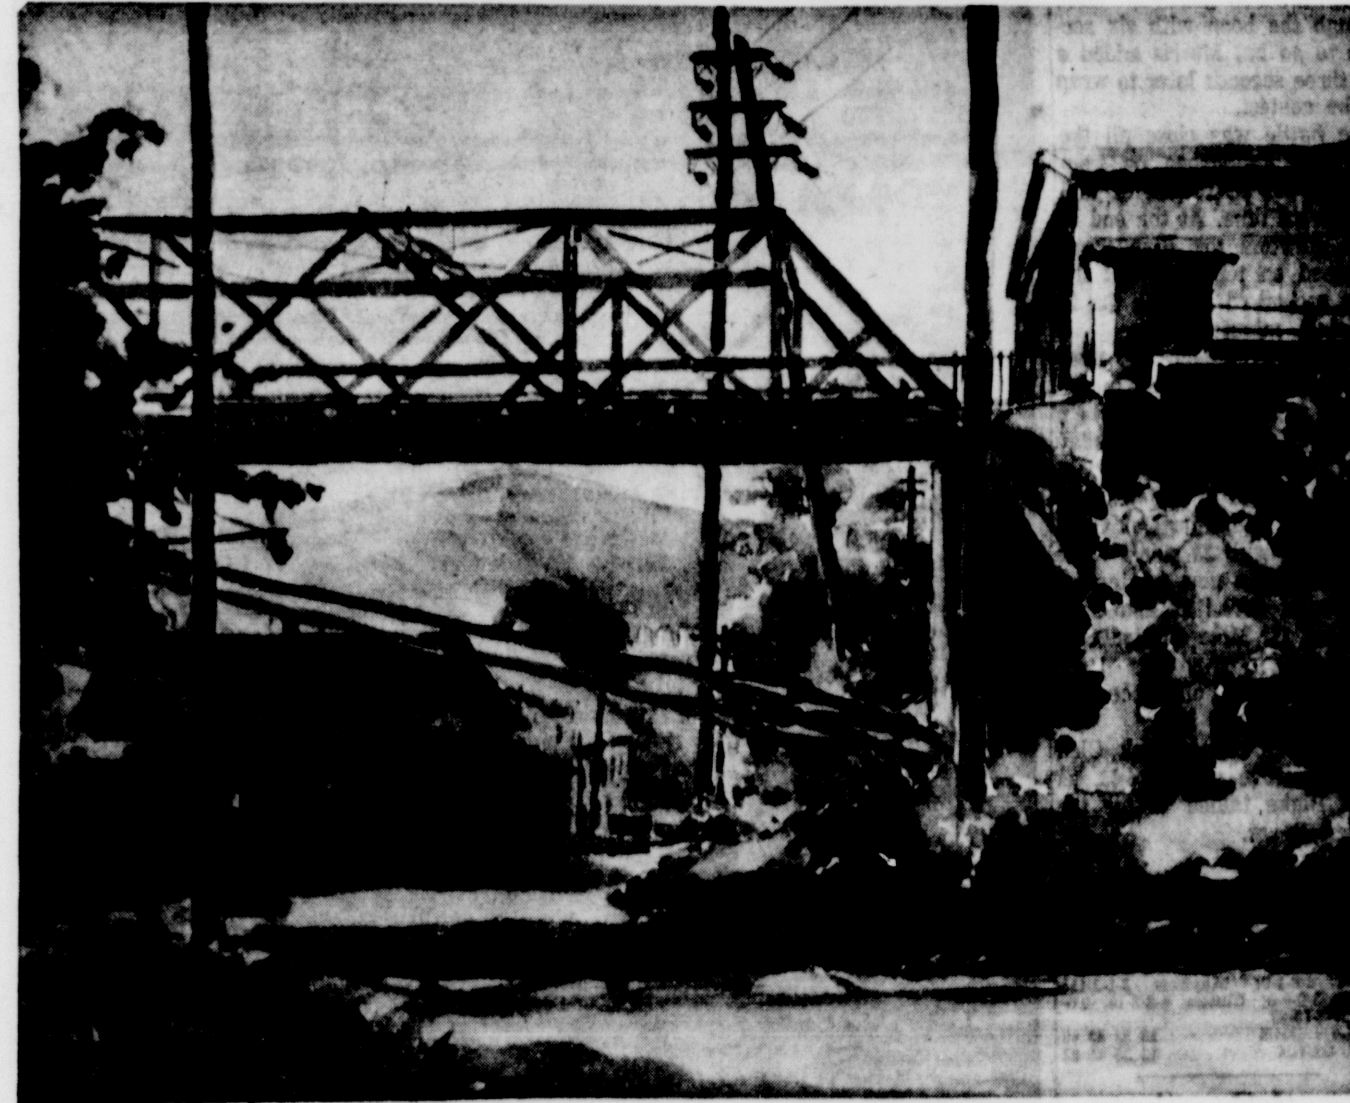

Preliminary surveys for the bridge were launched in 1903 and excavation started for the approaches and abutments a year later.

E. K. Morse, a noted area river engineer of his day, was in charge of the work done by the Penn Bridge Co. of Beaver Falls, with the Ohio Steel Erecting Co. of Steubenville as sub-contractors.

MUCH OF THE rivet work was done by hand instead of with machines, because workmen contended the machines were not adapted to such jobs. The cables were strung in the middle of winter, rather than in the summer as is generally the case.

Nearby, work was under way on construction of Dam 8 and industrial plants were springing up on the south bank of the Ohio River.

Cost of the bridge was $250,000, according to record, by today's standards hardly enough to cover the expense of building a few feet of span. It was constructed in 13 months, a shorter time than the Chester Bridge, which was built in a year and five months.

THIS 1957 WATERCOLOR by Hans Hacker, East Liverpool artist, shows the north end of the Newell Bridge and toll house in an extinct view from the former W. 4th St. Ext. where the Freeway now passes.

This account of the opening of the bridge was carried on Page 1 of the July 5, 1905, issue of the East Liverpool Tribune:

"The work of laying the floors on the new Newell Bridge was completed at midnight July 3, and travel was opened the morning of July 4 and continued all day long."

"Several carriages were driven over and a few automobiles. It is said that at least a thousand persons passed over the bridge yesterday."

"It makes a delightful promenade and will be very enjoyable any of the coming July nights. This is the finest drive for pleasure out of the city."

TWO PROMINENT industrialists of the time were accorded the honor of being the first to officially cross the 1,592-foot-long span.

They were W. E. Wells, general manager and founder of the Homer Laughlin China Co., and E. M. Knowles, founder of the Knowles China Co., who made the trip in the auto of Wells.

Ten days after the first crossing, the North American Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary company of the pottery, invited more than 100 businessmen and professionals to cross over the bridge, over which two tracks had been laid, and to visit the site of Newell.

According to Tribune accounts, Fred B. Lawrence, superintendent of the firm, was in charge of the trip and visitors found Washington St. in Newell laid 70 feet wide for future heavy traffic and men already preparing a golf course, baseball field and tennis courts.

For many years, the bridge served a dual purpose — traffic and a means of which telephone circuits could cross into West Virginia from Ohio without being laid in the river bed. The phone cables were later installed in sealed tubes beneath the river.

THE COLOR OF the 1,600 gallons of paint applied to the bridge every five or six years has not always been silver. Black paint was used until a few years ago when Glenn Hall, manager of the Newell Bridge & Railway Co., thought it was time for a change.

The job of painting the bridge generally takes six to eight weeks and costs the company roughly $20,000. Portions of the wooden sidewalk are also replaced from time to time with treated lumber.

There is an expansion "dam" in the center to allow for contraction or expansion of more than five inches, depending on the weather.

The bridge's original wooden flooring was replaced with new wood flooring in 1923 and some additional steel stringers were added. In 1954, the wood floor and streetcar rails were ripped up and a steel grill flooring installed.

Although the suspension span is 1,592 feet in length, with a channel span of 750 feet, 1,070 feet is in West Virginia territory. The width is 33 feet, 6 inches.

The volume of traffic using the bridge fluctuates from season to season, but generally speaking 1,500 to 2,000 vehicles will cross daily.

Traffic on the bridge hits its peak on holidays when racing is in season at Waterford Park. Hall estimates 3,000 vehicles use the span "on a really big day."

THE 10-CENT toll for autos has been in effect for a great number of years. Hall pointed out the toll at one time was 10 cents for each auto and a nickel for each additional passenger up to four.

Even with the 10-cent toll, the Newell Bridge was a salvation for area motorists between 1938 and 1951. In most of those years, the toll on the Chester Bridge was 25 cents and many local residents will recall they drove an extra couple of miles to work each morning to reach the span at Newell and save 15 cents, or 30 if you count the trip back home in the evening.

The Chester Bridge was built in 1896 and operated privately until 1938, when purchased by the Ohio State Bridge Commission. It was made toll free on June 15, 1961.

There are five members of the "Toll House Gang" at the Newell Bridge. In order of seniority, they are William Clifford Beane, J. Alfred Bowyer, Willis O. Hall, Herbert Patton and Willis Campbell.

Glenn Hall, as manager of the company that owns the bridge, could be described as an authority on its history. If he has one problem with its operation, it would be pigeons and starlings, which roost in the tower nearest the Ohio shore. Their messing requires the tower to be scraped and painted each year.

INSPECTION OF the span is not compulsory, but the company underwrites the cost of the job each spring. The contract was held by Modjeski & Masters of Harrisburg. The bridge is also inspected by Pennsylvania Railroad Co. officials, as it passes above the line to Koblitz.

There are five other toll bridges across the Ohio River that have one approach in the state of Ohio, according to the Bridge Commission in Columbus.

They are located at Portsmouth, Ironton, Belpre, Duffy and Bellaire. The Fort Steuben Bridge was made toll free Nov. 13, 1959.

Club Aids Lisbon

BPW Active In 2-Year Period

Community service has been a prime objective of the Lisbon Business & Professional Women's Club, which has achieved success in a number of projects since it was organized less than two years ago.

The first civic participation activity was sponsorship of a drive for the Mental Health Clinic, which collected $1,010-$210 over the goal of $800 for the Lisbon area. Mrs. E. O. Burton was chairman of the October 1962 campaign.

The club also sponsored a successful Cancer Fund drive in April 1963 and will conduct the drive again this spring. In December last year, the club sold decorative ribbon bows for the County Retarded Children's School.

Members are planning a telephone campaign to solicit donors of dogwood trees for beautifying the village, assisting the Civic Improvement Association.

A $25 annual award for the most deserving senior commercial student at David Anderson High School will be initiated this year. The club also has contributed to the CARE program for international relief aid.

The club's first organizational meeting was held in May 1962 with 10 prospective members. It was conducted by Mrs. Ethel Wambaugh of the East Liverpool BPW Club, the sponsoring group.

A "Charter Night" dinner was held in June 1962 with 40 members attending and with several state BPW officers present. Mrs. Byron Griffith was the charter president. Mrs. Annetta Courtney is president now.

The club holds a dinner meeting the first Wednesday of each month.

Members hope to maintain the pace of activities which have marked its history to date, pledging continued work for the betterment of the community, state and nation.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Do you have any tips for easier removal of old wallpaper from the walls?

A. Try using an ordinary paint roller, immersed in warm sudsy water, to soak the old wallpaper for removal. Pull the paper off with the aid of a painter's broad knife.

Q. How can I make a tastier pie crust?

A. Try adding just a bit of sugar to each cup of flour used in making your pie crust. It will improve the flavor, and also the texture of your crust.

Q. After oiling my sewing machine, how can I be sure to rid it of all excess oil before beginning my sewing?

A. By stitching a couple of lines or so through a blotter.

It's Fritz Williams 96, Liverpool 61

By BOB DUFFY

Review Sports Editor

Dr. James A. Naismith invented the game of basketball and then Ron (Fritz) Williams came along to show everybody how it should be played.

Dr. Naismith used peach baskets when the game was born and it is a good thing someone thought of using an iron ring and net because a guy like Williams would set a peach basket on fire.

IN ONE of the most fantastic shooting exhibitions ever put on at Memorial Auditorium, the 6-2 Williams scored his greatest night in scoring 55 points, only six less than the whole East Liverpool squad, in pacing Weirton to a 96-61 victory before 1,649 paid fans Friday night.

The standing-room-only crowd was one of the largest to watch a basketball game at Memorial Auditorium in recent years and received its money's worth with the spectacular performance put on by Williams.

THE TWO-TIME all-stater took 36 shots at the baskets and made 25 field goals for a phenomenal 69 per cent. From the foul line he never missed, making five-for-five.

His 55-point total completely wrecked the old record for Memorial Auditorium. The former mark was 41 points scored by Kenny Cunningham, East Liverpool's All-Ohio star, in 1961.

Fritz hadn't been having a very good month in the scoring column due to traveling to various colleges and having basketball scouts on his tail.

FOLLOWING last night's game though, he said, "this is the most relaxed I have felt all season. I think the pressure was bothering me but tonight I just didn't think about anything but playing basketball."

He carried a 30-point per game average into last night's contest and the 55 points represents the highest total in his sensational four-year career at Weirton. His previous high was 47 against Parkersburg earlier this season.

Fritz got off to a rousing start by sinking seven of eight shots in the first quarter as Weirton posted a 23-15 margin when the period ended.

HE ADDED nine in the second period and Weirton led 43-29 at halftime. Another 14-point total in the third quarter carried the Riders to a 70-51 advantage after three periods and then Fritz wound up with his best eight minutes by scoring 17 points in the final frame.

Williams will be appearing in this area again Tuesday when Weirton meets Oak Glen at Chester.

The victory was the 17th in 18 games for Coach Jim Carey's team which was beaten only by Steubenville Big Red. The win also marked the 12th in a row for Weirton since the loss to Big Red.

COACH Jim Harris' Potters finished with a .500 batting average at 9-9 and had won five straight battles before running into Williams & Co. The game was the final in regular season play for the Potters who will meet Toronto in the Class AA Sectional tournament at Steubenville Monday night at 8:30.

In defeat, Frank McComas turned in his best night of the season by scoring 29 points. The 6-foot senior was matching points with Williams for a brief spell in the first quarter and wound up making 22 field goals on 27 attempts.

McComas poured in 17 points in the first half, making seven of 13 shots.

THE POTTERS played without the services of senior center Randy Stover, the 6-4 pivot man who had been ill all week. His replacement, Frank Taylor, scored 10 points while Bob Forzano and Bill Hall added eight each. Bob Maltarich, the other starter, collected six.

With Williams doing most of the accurate shooting, Weirton wound up with a hot team percentage of 55 from the floor, connecting on 44 of 80 attempts. The Potters took 78 shots and made 26 for 33 per cent.

East Liverpool kept pace with Weirton for most of the first quarter. The last tie was at 15-15 but Weirton went on to score eight straight points and grab the 23-15 first period edge.

IN THE second quarter, the Potters narrowed the margin to four points on two occasions but some of Weirton's other starters began hitting and by halftime the score had reached, 43-29.

Behind Williams in the Weirton scoring was Ed Harward who dropped in 12 markers while Al Woodbury added nine. Weirton didn't need much more than Williams who scored, rebounded and passed off beautifully to his teammates for easy scores.

Last night's game marked the final appearance at the MA for six Potter seniors — McComas, Stover, Forzano, Hall, Dave Bowersock and Ed Mercer.

Follansbee Edges Past Oak Glen, 65-62

Bears Drop 8th Tilt In Last Seconds

Follansbee spilled Oak Glen for the second time this season but was extended in doing it before coming up with a 65-62 victory Friday night at Chester.

Oak Glen battled all the way and with 40 seconds remaining in the contest Sam Simmons tied the count at 60-60. Only 29 seconds showed on the clock when Simmons made it 62-60 and Adams added a pair of fouls for Follansbee to put the score at 64-60 with 16 seconds remaining.

Simmons got one more through the hoop with six seconds to go but Morris added a foul three seconds later to wrap up the contest.

The battle was close all the way with Follansbee on top 15-13 at the first quarter and 33-29 at halftime. At the end of three quarters the Blue Wave remained on top 48-45 but the score saw-sawed through the final eight minutes.

The loss left Coach Bob Starkey's team with an 8-10 record and he will send his Golden Bears against Weirton Tuesday night at Chester.

Simmons had one of his better scoring nights for Oak Glen, coming up with 23 points while John Brand, a new starter for the Bears, added 12 and Gary Mayhew 11. Mike Clutter contributed 10.

Adams paced Follansbee with a 21-point effort. Follansbee nipped Oak Glen in the reserve game, 64-63, as Peck Blake tallied 18 for the Golden Bears.

Persol Survives Knockdown And Decisions Cotton

NEW YORK (AP)—His youthful exuberance stood Johnny Persol in good stead in his fight with the veteran Eddie Cotton at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Knocked through the ropes for a count of seven in the sixth round, the 23-year-old New Yorker bounced back and gained a split 10-round decision in the nationally televised scrap.

It was a disappointment for the 37-year-old Cotton from Seattle, the No. 1 light heavyweight contender who was making his Garden debut after 16 years as a pro.

Persol, the favorite, won 5-4 on referee Arthur Mercante's card. Judge George Walsh had it 6-4 for Persol, while judge Bill Recht gave it to Cotton, 5-3-2. So did The Associated Press 5-4-1.

Persol weighed 172½, Cotton 171½.

League Votes 9-1 Against Him

Owner Of A's On Verge Of Being 'Thumbed Out'

By BOB HOOBING
BOSTON (AP)—Charles O. Finley, who confidently predicted he'd remain the Kansas City baseball owner, is on the verge of being thumbed out of the game.

The umpires in this unprecedented American League battle are his nine fellow club executives who began ejection proceedings with a 9-1 vote Friday.

Finley and his franchise may be permanently parted by the swivel chair arbiters within a week to 10 days.

That's how long it is estimated the board of directors will need to set up a date and site for a general meeting which would consider and act upon the termination of Finley's league association.

Finley, usually outspoken, stood silent after the meeting,

while Louis Nize, his attorney, read a statement which said the owner would await the outcome of the ouster meeting "and make an appropriate statement at that time."

Previously, Finley had threatened legal action if the league took away his franchise.

An American League spokesman termed it a "very complicated legal procedure," but here is the essence of what will happen, assuming the league escorts Finley all the way down the path to disenfranchisement.

1. The league will take over operation of the Kansas City team and appoint a sort of overseer pro tem.

2. The league would negotiate a lease with Kansas City for Municipal Stadium, the deadlocked issue on which Finley lost the battle, if not the war.

He would take nothing but a two-year lease, city officials wanted at least four.

3. The league will conduct the sale of the club when suitable buyers are found.

4. Proceeds of the sale—minus league expenses in running the club in the interim period and related costs—will go to Finley.

These moves are authorized by the reorganization agreement and the constitution of the league.

Although the action is new in American League annals, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, former iron-fisted baseball commissioner, struck at least twice in the National League.

Landis ended William D. Cox's brief ownership of the Philadelphia Phillies in 1943 when the latter admitted gambling on his own team.

Indians Bow Out After Big Margin

CANTON — Southern Local let a 16-point lead slip out of its hands and was edged, 61-59, by Tuslaw in the Class AA Sectional play at the Auditorium here Friday night.

A field goal by Tuslaw's Benson with six seconds remaining put Southern Local out of the tournament. Tom McGuire had knotted the score at 59-59 with two foul shots but Tuslaw played for the last shot and made it for the victory. Tuslaw now must face a powerful Massillon squad.

Southern Local had the contest won for three quarters, leading 28-23 at halftime and 46-33 after three periods. Tuslaw got hot in the fourth quarter and outscored the Indians, 28-13.

On one time in the third quarter, Southern led by 16 points. Benson, the game's hero, paced Tuslaw with 18 points while Glen added 17.

Fox Pitts dropped in 17 points while Larry Smith added 14 and McGuire 13 for Southern.

The defeat left Coach Al Gironne with a 9-10 record. The game was the first time Southern Local had participated in a Class AA tourney.

Embattled 76ers Topple Mighty Celtics, 144-119

By The Associated Press
The embattled Philadelphia 76ers, with Hal Greer leading the charge, overthrew Boston's regal Celtics 144-119 Friday night in a National Basketball Association coup.

It was the worst drubbing for Boston since the Stamp Act. The Celtics' four-game win string vanished and their Eastern Division lead over Cincinnati dwindled to two games.

The Royals whipped home-standing San Francisco 101-93 and Baltimore edged St. Louis 115-113 in double overtime.

Greer connected for a career-high 50 points and led a pair of scoring sprees, heretofore private property of the Celtics, that twice broke the game open.

The 76ers' backcourt star hit 19 field goals and added 12 free throws to surpass his previous single-game high of 45, counted against the same Celtics five years ago.

The Celtics were as cold as Greer was hot. They made 50 field goals in 132 attempts. Philadelphia ran off nine straight points late in the second quarter and led at halftime 65-56.

In the third period the 76ers put together 12 in a row to turn a 79-69 lead into a 91-69 rout.

A fourth quarter cold spell cost the Warriors at San Francisco as Cincinnati ran a 77-73 lead to 97-85 with less than two minutes remaining.

Wilt Chamberlain, who finished with 40 points, was the only Warrior to connect from the field in the first 10 minutes of the finale.

Oscar Robertson paced the Royals with 32 points.

Gus Johnson tallied 11 of his 15 points in the two overtime sessions to spark Baltimore's victory after St. Louis had rallied from 12 points back to tie in regulation time.

Richie Guerin of the Hawks and Barney Cee of the Bullets matched free throws for a 92-92 standoff after 48 minutes. Terry Dischinger's three-point play and Rod Thorn's charity toss saved the Bullets in the last minute of the first extra period, which ended at 96-69. Then Johnson and Si Green collaborated for the key points in the second overtime.

Dischinger scored 30 points for the Bullets and Green had 23. Bob Pettit tallied 25 to pace the Hawks, who still trail San Francisco by two games in the Western Division.

Boston is at St. Louis, Cincinnati at Los Angeles and New York at Detroit in tonight's games.

It's Fritz Williams 96, Liverpool 61

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Dr. James A. Naismith invented the game of basketball and then Ron (Fritz) Williams came along to show everybody how it should be played.

Dr. Naismith used peach baskets when the game was born and it is a good thing someone thought of using an iron ring and net because a guy like Williams would set a peach basket on fire.

IN ONE of the most fantastic shooting exhibitions ever put on at Memorial Auditorium, the 6-2 Williams had his greatest night in scoring 55 points, only six less than the whole East Liverpool squad, in pacing Weirton to a 96-61 victory before 1,649 paid fans Friday night.

The standing-room-only crowd was one of the largest to watch a basketball game at Memorial Auditorium in recent years and received its money's worth with the spectacular performance put on by Williams.

THE TWO-TIME all-stater took 36 shots at the baskets and made 25 field goals for a phenomenal 69 per cent. From the foul line he never missed, making five-for-five.

His 55-point total completely wrecked the old record for Memorial Auditorium. The former mark was 41 points scored by Kenny Cunningham, East Liverpool's All-Ohio star, in 1961.

Fritz hadn't been having a very good month in the scoring column due to traveling to various colleges and having basketball scouts on his tail.

FOLLOWING last night's game though, he said, "this is the most relaxed I have felt all season. I think the pressure was bothering me but tonight I just didn't think about anything but playing basketball."

He carried a 30-point per game average into last night's contest and the 55 points represents the highest total in his sensational four-year career at Weirton. His previous high was 47 against Parkersburg earlier this season.

Fritz got off to a rousing start by sinking seven of eight shots in the first quarter as Weirton posted a 23-15 margin when the period ended.

HE ADDED nine in the second period and Weirton led 43-29 at halftime. Another 14-point total in the third quarter carried the Riders to a 70-51 advantage after three periods and then Fritz wound up with his best eight minutes by scoring 17 points in the final frame.

Williams will be appearing in this area again Tuesday when Weirton meets Oak Glen at Chester.

The victory was the 17th in 18 games for Coach Jim Carey's team which was beaten only by Steubenville Big Red. The win also marked the 12th in a row for Weirton since the loss to Big Red.

COACH Jim Harris' Potters finished with a .500 batting average at 9-9 and had won five straight battles before running into Williams & Co. The game was the final in regular season play for the Potters who will meet Toronto in the Class AA Sectional tournament at Steubenville Monday night at 8:30.

In defeat, Frank McComas turned in his best night of the season by scoring 29 points. The 6-foot senior was matching points with Williams for a brief spell in the first quarter and wound up making 22 field goals on 27 attempts.

McComas poured in 17 points in the first half, making seven of 13 shots.

THE POTTERS played without the services of senior center Randy Stover, the 6-4 pivot man who had been ill all week. His replacement, Frank Taylor, scored 10 points while Bob Forzano and Bill Hall added eight each. Bob Maltarich, the other starter, collected six.

With Williams doing most of the accurate shooting, Weirton wound up with a hot team percentage of 55 from the floor, connecting on 44 of 80 attempts. The Potters took 78 shots and made 26 for 33 per cent.

East Liverpool kept pace with Weirton for most of the first quarter. The last tie was at 13-15 but Weirton went on to score eight straight points and grab the 23-15 first period edge.

IN THE second quarter, the Potters narrowed the margin to four points on two occasions but some of Weirton's other starters began hitting and by halftime the score had reached, 43-29.

Behind Williams in the Weirton scoring was Ed Harward who dropped in 12 markers while Al Woodbury added nine.

Weirton didn't need much more than Williams who scored, rebounded and passed off beautifully to his teammates for easy scores.

Last night's game marked the final appearance at the MA for six Potter seniors — McComas, Stover, Forzano, Hall, Dave Bowersock and Ed Mercer.

Follansbee Edges Past Oak Glen, 65-62

Bears Drop 8th Tilt In Last Seconds

Follansbee spilled Oak Glen for the second time this season but was extended in doing it before coming up with a 65-62 victory Friday night at Chester.

Oak Glen battled all the way and with 40 seconds remaining in the contest Sam Simmons tied the count at 60-60. Only 29 seconds showed on the clock when Simpson made it 62-60 and Adams added a pair of fouls for Follansbee to put the score at 64-60 with 16 seconds remaining.

Simmons got one more through the hoop with six seconds to go but Morris added a foul three seconds later to wrap up the contest.

The battle was close all the way with Follansbee on top 15-13 at the first quarter and 33-29 at halftime. At the end of three quarters the Blue Wave remained on top 48-45 but the score see-sawed through the final eight minutes.

The loss left Coach Bob Starkey's team with an 8-10 record and he will send his Golden Bears against Weirton Tuesday night at Chester.

Simmons had one of his better scoring nights for Oak Glen, coming up with 23 points while John Brand, a new starter for the Bears, added 12 and Gary Mayhew 11. Mike Clutter contributed 10.

Adams paced Follansbee with a 21-point effort.

Persol Survives Knockdown And Decisions Cotton

NEW YORK (AP)—His youthful exuberance stood Johnny Persol in good stead in his fight with the veteran Eddie Cotton at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Knocked through the ropes for a count of seven in the sixth round, the 23-year-old New Yorker bounced back and gained a split 10-round decision in the nationally televised scrap.

It was a disappointment for the 37-year-old Cotton from Seattle, the No. 1 light heavyweight contender who was making his Garden debut after 16 years as a pro.

Persol, the favorite, won 5-4 on referee Arthur Mercante's card. Judge George Walsh had it 6-4 for Persol, while judge Bill Recht gave it to Cotton, 5-3-2. So did The Associated Press 5-4-1.

Persol weighed 172½. Cotton 171½.

League Votes 9-1 Against Him

Owner Of A's On Verge Of Being 'Thumbed Out'

By BOB HOOBING
BOSTON (AP)—Charles O. Finley, who confidently predicted he'd remain the Kansas City baseball owner, is on the verge of being thumbed out of the game.

The umpires in this unprecedented American League battle are his nine fellow club executives who began ejection proceedings with a 9-1 vote Friday.

Finley and his franchise may be permanently parted by the swivel chair arbiters within a week to 10 days.

That's how long it is estimated the board of directors will need to set up a date and site for a general meeting which would consider and act upon the termination of Finley's league association.

Finley, usually outspoken, stood silent after the meeting

while Louis Nize, his attorney, read a statement which said the owner would await the outcome of the ouster meeting "and make an appropriate statement at that time."

Previously, Finley had threatened legal action if the league took away his franchise.

An American League spokesman termed it a "very complicated legal procedure," but here is the essence of what will happen, assuming the league escorts Finley all the way down the path to disenfranchisement.

1. The league will take over operation of the Kansas City team and appoint a sort of overseer pro tem.

2. The league would negotiate a lease with Kansas City for the Municipal Stadium, the deadlocked issue on which Finley lost the battle, if not the war.

He would take nothing but a two-year lease, city officials wanted at least four.

3. The league will conduct the sale of the club when suitable buyers are found.

4. Proceeds of the sale—minus league expenses in running the club in the interim period and related costs—will go to Finley.

These moves are authorized by the reorganization agreement and the constitution of the league.

Although the action is new in American League annals, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, former iron-fisted baseball commissioner, struck at least twice in the National League.

Landis ended William D. Cox's brief ownership of the Philadelphia Phillies in 1943 when the latter admitted gambling on his own team.

Indians Bow Out After Big Margin

CANTON — Southern Local let a 16-point lead slip out of its hands and was edged, 61-59, by Tuslaw in the Class AA Sectional play at the Auditorium here Friday night.

A field goal by Tuslaw's Benson with six seconds remaining put Southern Local out of the tournament. Tom McGuire had knotted the score at 59-59 with two foul shots but Tuslaw played for the last shot and made it for the victory. Tuslaw now must face a powerful Massillon squad.

Southern Local had the contest won for three quarters, leading 28-23 at halftime and 46-33 after three periods. Tuslaw got hot in the fourth quarter and outscored the Indians, 28-13.

At one time in the third quarter, Southern led by 16 points. Benson, the game's hero, paced Tuslaw with 18 points while Fox added 17.

Glen Pitts dropped in 17 points while Larry Smith added 14 and McGuire 13 for Southern.

The defeat left Coach Al Gironi with a 9-10 record. The game was the first time Southern Local had participated in a Class AA tourney.

Embattled 76ers Topple Mighty Celtics, 144-119

By The Associated Press
The embattled Philadelphia 76ers, with Hal Greer leading the charge, overthrew Boston's regal Celtics 144-119 Friday night in a National Basketball Association coup.

It was the worst drubbing for Boston since the Stamp Act. The Celtics' four-game win string vanished and their Eastern Division lead over Cincinnati dwindled to two games.

The Royals whipped home-standing San Francisco 101-93 and Baltimore edged St. Louis 115-113 in double overtime.

Greer connected for a career-high 50 points and led a pair of scoring sprees, heretofore private property of the Celts, that twice broke the game open.

The 76ers' backcourt star hit 19 field goals and added 12 free throws to surpass his previous single-game high of 45, counted against the same Celtics five years ago.

the field in the first 10 minutes of the finale.

Oscar Robertson paced the Royals with 32 points.

Gus Johnson tallied 11 of his 15 points in the two overtime sessions to spark Baltimore's victory after St. Louis had rallied from 12 points back to tie in regulation time.

Richie Guerin of the Hawks and Barney Cable of the Bullets matched free throws for a 92-92 standoff after 48 minutes. Terry Dischinger's three-point play and Rod Thorn's charity toss saved the Bullets in the last minute of the first extra period, which ended at 96-69. Then Johnson and St. Green collaborated for the key points in the second overtime.

Dischinger scored 30 points for the Bullets and Green had 23. Bob Pettit tallied 25 to pace the Hawks, who still trail San Francisco by two games in the Western Division.

Boston is at St. Louis, Cincinnati at Los Angeles and New York at Detroit in tonight's games.

The Celtics were as cold as Greer was hot. They made 50 field goals in 132 attempts. Philadelphia ran off nine straight points late in the second quarter and led at halftime 65-56.

In the third period the 76ers put together 12 in a row to turn a 79-69 lead into a 91-69 rout.

A fourth quarter cold spell cost the Warriors at San Francisco as Cincinnati ran a 77-73 lead to 97-85 with less than two minutes remaining.

Midland Shades Monaca, 74-71, To End Perfect Season

Winds Up 22-0; Waits Playoffs

By ANDY NUZZO

The Midland Leopards recorded their second perfect season in the past three years when they subdued an aroused band of Monaca Indians, 74-71, before a capacity throng on the losers' stage-type floor Friday night.

Hank Kuzma's charges will take a 22-0 record into the WPIAL playoffs at the Pitt Field House next week. Their first opponent will be determined at today's drawing in Pittsburgh.

The Indians of Otto Pritchard, using a full-court zone press throughout the game, remained within striking distance of Mid-layup throughout the cords and cut the Midland lead to 71-68.

Vanlier exchanged free throws with Lavrusky and Zopf swished a jumper from the side to narrow the Midland lead to 72-71.

Vanlier finally iced the game for the league leaders, converting both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation with three seconds left.

Midland kept up their fine shooting from the field, sinking 26 of 55 attempts for a torrid 47 per cent. Monaca whipped in 25 of 68 tries for 36 per cent.

In the preliminary battle, Stan Yukica's Midland JV's buried the Monaca subs, 76-46, finishing the season with a 17-3 mark.

Five players scored in double figures for the Leopards reserves. Rich House led the way with 22 points, followed by Aaron Berry with 16, Jim Miller with 15, Brent Lake with 11 and Mike Francis with 10.

Juniors Sim Hill, Norman Vanlier and Ron Brown again paced the Midland scoring machine. Hill rimmed 20 points, Vanlier canned 19 and the dependable Brown netted 18 markers.

Senior Bill Haggerty contributed eight markers, including a pair of key field goals in the hectic fourth quarter.

Hill, who fouled out of the contest in the last four minutes with Midland holding a slim 66-64 lead, grabbed 15 rebounds.

Monaca was sparked by the fine 22-points performance of senior Jim Lavrusky. The hard-fighting six-foot lad was deadly at the free throw line, swishing 10 straight.

Senior Fred Sebastian added 15 points to the Monaca attack and sophomore Bill Zopf contributed 11.

Two players besides Hill were forced from the foul-marred battle with five personal fouls. Senior Ted Vaughn of the Leopards departed early in the second half and Monaca's Gene Moffett was sent to the bench in the waning minutes of the contest.

Midland enjoyed a 60-51 lead with 15 seconds left in the third quarter before Dick Draganac started the Indians biggest uprising of the night.

Draganac converted a three-point at the close of the third period to pull Monaca with four points, 60-54, going into the final eight minutes of play.

At the outset of the fourth quarter the Indians racked up four quick points to pull even with Midland, 60-60, for the first time since the opening period.

Hill and Brown retaliated with jumpers from the key and Midland moved in front to stay but the fray was far from over.

After Hill fouled out, Haggerty tossed in a jump shot from the corner, Steve Alston added a free throw and Vanlier converted a pair of charity tosses to give the Leopards a seemingly safe 71-64 lead with 1:30 to go.

Tulane Heads For Winless Cage Season

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Winless Tulane is on the verge of completing the most disastrous season in major college basketball history.

All the Greenies from New Orleans have to do is to lose to Mississippi State tonight and to Louisiana State next Friday and they will wind up with an 0-23 mark. That would be the all-time one season bust.

After the Green Wave lost its 21st straight Friday night by just one point, 63-62 to Mississippi State tonight and to Louisiana State next Friday and they will wind up with an 0-23 mark. That would be the all-time one season bust.

The Citadel holds the current one season bust record of 0-17 in 1955, disclosed Cooke, still dusty from searching his files going back more than a quarter of a century.

The Citadel also lost 37 straight over a three-year span in 1954, 1955 and 1956 which is the longest major losing streak in the last 20 years, said Cooke, emphasizing that this applies only to collegiate competition.

Tulane almost spoiled all this research by holding Donnie Kessinger, the Mississippi star, to a mere four points and leading until midway of the second half. Then the Rebels got five straight field goals to go ahead for good at 58-52.

Oklahoma snapped its 10-game losing streak by defeating Missouri 84-82 while Arizona State continued its comeback by edging New Mexico 47-45 and tying the Lobos for the lead in the Western Athletic Conference.

Oregon State, seventh-ranked nationally in The Associated Press Poll, whipped Idaho 72-46 and DePaul, No. 9, romped against American University 85-59. They were the only members of the AP Top Ten to play Friday.

In other games Princeton overcame Yale 81-72, Wake Forest nipped Clemson 75-73, Citadel took Virginia Military 79-77, Arizona downed Wyoming 81-69, Oregon defeated Montana 97-67 and Boston College humbled Georgetown, D.C. 107-92 behind John Austin's record 49 points.

The 14-11 overtime victory of Midwestern, Tex. over Austin must have brought fond memories to the oldtimers of the era of the famed Buffalo Germans 50 years ago when low scores were the rule. Midwestern led at the half 4-1 and the regulation game ended 8-8.

Liston, Clay Wait Bell

Interest Lagging In Title Contest

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sonny Liston growled, Cassius Clay knocked off another sonnet and the promoters sweated to day over the massive disinterest in Tuesday night's heavyweight championship fight at Convention Hall.

It threatens to be a financial turkey at the gate, saved by a record closed circuit television network of 355 locations.

"We've got problems, but hope things pick up," said Bill MacDonald, paunchy self-made millionaire who put up a $625,000 guarantee for the fight between the bull-strong ring killer, Liston, and the poem-spouting challenger from Louisville.

With four days remaining, the advance ticket sale has hit only $300,000, well below the $800,000 MacDonald estimates he needs to break even.

While Liston and Clay put on their finishing touches 90 blocks apart in the swank Miami Beach area, ticket men at six windows at Convention Hall stood around twiddling their thumbs. Nobody was queuing up for tickets.

The electric excitement that normally accompanies heavyweight championships was nonexistent. There were small crowds and big yawns even at the fighters training sessions.

The widespread lack of enthusiasm was understandable. Few expected it to be much of a fight.

Liston, a massive Negro with arms like pistons and hands like country hams, has won his last three fights, two with Floyd Patterson and one with Germany's Alfred Westphal, in the first round and all in the total of little more than six minutes.

Clay, one of the brightest and most delightful characters fighting has produced, has shown no indication despite his remarkable speed and babbling tongue that he is likely to last any longer than his immediate predecessors. He has been lackluster in his latest workouts.

Liston is a 7-1 favorite and it's an even bet Clay doesn't answer the bell for the sixth.

Convention Hall seats 16,000. It appears that many of the seats will be unoccupied when Liston and Clay tap gloves at 10 p.m. EST.

"We're doing all right at the top and bottom, but aren't moving tickets as fast as we'd like in the middle," said MacDonald.

He has 6,000 seats in the bottom category, selling for $20 apiece, and 600 at ringside, going at $250, appealing to the status seekers. The others sell for $50, $100 and $150.

MacDonald and his associates don't get anything from the television monies, which may gross as much as $4 million.

Nathan Halpern, president of Theatre Network Television, Inc., announced that the fight would be shown at 355 locations in the United States and Canada, with a capacity of 1,103,451 seats.

MacDonald and his associates don't get anything from the television monies, which may gross as much as $4 million.

Midland Shades Monaca, 74-71, To End Perfect Season

Winds Up 22-0; Waits Playoffs

By ANDY NUZZO

The Midland Leopards recorded their second perfect season in the past three years when they subdued an aroused band of Monaca Indians, 74-71, before a capacity throng on the losers' stage-type floor Friday night.

Hank Kuzma's charges will take a 22-0 record into the WPIAL playoffs at the Pitt Field House next week. Their first opponent will be determined at today's drawing in Pittsburgh.

The Indians of Otto Pritchard, using a full - court zone press throughout the game, remained within striking distance of Midland right down to the wire. They finished in third place in the league standings with an 11-5 mark.

Juniors Sim Hill, Norman Vanlier and Ron Brown again paced the Midland scoring machine. Hill rimmed 20 points, Vanlier canned 19 and the dependable Brown netted 18 markers.

Senior Bill Haggerty contributed eight markers, including a pair of key field goals in the hectic fourth quarter.

Hill, who fouled out of the contest in the last four minutes with Midland holding a slim 66-64 lead, grabbed 15 rebounds.

Monaca was sparked by the fine 22-points performance of senior Jim Lavrusky. The hard-fighting six-foot lad was deadly at the free throw line, swishing 10 straight.

Senior Fred Sebastian added 15 points to the Monaca attack and sophomore Bill Zopf contributed 11.

Two players besides Hill were forced from the foul-marred battle with five personal fouls. Senior Ted Vaughn of the Leopards departed early in the second half and Monaca's Gene Moffett was sent to the bench in the waning minutes of the contest.

Midland enjoyed a 60-51 lead with 15 seconds left in the third quarter before Dick Graganac started the Indians biggest uprising of the night.

Draganac converted a three-point at the close of the third period to pull Monaca with four points, 60-54, going into the final eight minutes of play.

At the outset of the fourth quarter the Indians racked up four quick points to pull even with Midland, 60-60, for the first time since the opening period.

Hill and Brown retaliated with jumpers from the key and Midland moved in front to stay but the fray was far from over.

After Hill fouled out, Haggerty tossed in a jump shot from the corner, Steve Alston added a free throw and Vanlier converted a pair of charity tosses to give the Leopards a seemingly safe 71-64 lead with 1:30 to go.

Monaca was not through fighting as Lavrusky netted two foul shots and Sebastian flipped a layup throughout the cords and cut the Midland lead to 71-68.

Vanlier exchanged free throws with Lavrusky and Zopf swished a jumper from the side to narrow the Midland lead to 72-71.

Vanlier finally ended the game for the league leaders, converting both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation with three seconds left.

Midland kept up their fine shooting from the field, sinking 26 of 55 attempts for a torrid 47 per cent. Monaca whipped in 25 of 68 tries for 36 per cent.

In the preliminary battle, Stan Yuckica's Midland JV's buried the Monaca subs, 76-46, finishing the season with a 17-3 mark.

Five players scored in double figures for the Leopards reserves. Rich House led the way with 22 points, followed by Aaron Berry with 16, Jim Miller with 15, Brent Lake with 11 and Mike Francis with 10.

Snead Looms As Seniors' Golf Champ

By BEN FUNK

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Come Sunday, there'll be a new king of the senior golfers, and Slammin' Sammy Snead looks like the old boy who will don the crown.

Despite considerable moanin' and groanin', the 51-year-old Snead managed to shoot himself a four-under-par 68 in Friday's second round in the $30,000 PGA Seniors' Tournament and boost himself three strokes ahead of the field at the halfway mark.

Snead's 135 left him nine strokes under par for 36 holes over the new PGA National Golf Club course. Duke Gibson of Kansas City, often a top contender but never a winner in the battle for the Teachers' Trophy, was second at 138.

Another comparatively unknown player competing in a field that includes ex-champions of every major tournament in golf, Bud Williamson of Lincoln, Neb., was third with 139.

Snead said he "missed seven or eight putts under 10 feet. When I get that close to the hole so many times I ought to get me a better score than that." But he added, happily, "I haven't missed a single green throughout this tournament."

For the second straight day Snead shot an eagle near the start of his round. He got the one Friday on the 515-yard second hole, chipping in from 50 feet after two wood shots left him on the edge of the green.

The Slammer appeared pretty sure now to win the Teachers' Trophy, the $2,500 first prize and the trip aboard to play the British senior champ for the world title. Snead won the British Open title in 1946.

Francona Reported OK After Operation

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Indians outfielder Tito Francona is reported in satisfactory condition following surgery for a hernia.

Francona was operated on Friday in team physician Dr. Vic Ippolito's Shaker Medical Center Hospital. He injured himself shoveling snow at his home in New Brighton, Pa.

The Tribe opens spring training in Tucson, Ariz., Thursday, but Francona is expected to be sidelined at least three weeks.

Tulane Heads For Winless Cage Season

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Winless Tulane is on the verge of completing the most disastrous season in major college basketball history.

All the Greenies from New Orleans have to do is lose to Mississippi State tonight and to Louisiana State next Friday and they will wind up with an 0-23 mark. That would be the all-time one season bust.

After the Green Wave lost its 21st straight Friday night by just one point, 63-62 to Mississippi, Homer Cooke, director of the NCAA Service Bureau, came up with the information that overshadowed the victories of Arizona State over New Mexico, Oregon State over Idaho and Oklahoma over Missouri.

The Citadel holds the current one season bust record of 0-17 in 1955, disclosed Cooke, still dusty from searching his files going back more than a quarter of a century.

The Citadel also lost 37 straight over a three-year-span in 1954, 1955 and 1956 which is the longest major losing streak in the last 20 years, said Cooke, emphasizing that this applies only to collegiate competition.

Tulane almost spoiled all this research by holding Donnie Kessinger, the Mississippi star, to a mere four points and leading until midway of the second half. Then the Rebels got five straight field goals to go ahead for good at 58-52.

Oklahoma snapped its 10-game losing streak by defeating Missouri 84-82 while Arizona State continued its comeback by edging New Mexico 47-45 and tying the Lobos for the lead in the Western Athletic Conference.

Oregon State, seventh-ranked nationally in The Associated Press Poll, whipped Idaho 72-46 and DePaul, No. 9, romped against American University 85-59. They were the only members of the AP Top Ten to play Friday.

In other games Princeton overcame Yale 81-72, Wake Forest nipped Clemson 75-73, Citadel took Virginia Military 79-77, Arizona downed Wyoming 81-69, Oregon defeated Montana 97-67 and Boston College humbled Georgetown, D.C. 107-92 behind John Austin's record 49 points.

The 14-11 overtime victory of Midwestern, Tex. over Austin must have brought fond memories to the oldtimers of the era of the famed Buffalo Germans 50 years ago when low scores were the rule. Midwestern led at the half 4-1 and the regulation game ended 8-8.

Liston, Clay Wait Bell

Interest Lagging In Title Contest

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—

Sonny Liston growled, Cassius Clay knocked off another sonnet and the promoters sweated today over the massive disinterest in Tuesday night's heavyweight championship fight at Convention Hall.

It threatens to be a financial turkey at the gate, saved by a record closed circuit television network of 355 locations.

"We've got problems, but hope things pick up," said Bill MacDonald, paunchy self-made millionaire who put up a $625,000 guarantee for the fight between the bull-strong ring killer, Liston, and the poem-spouting challenger from Louisville.

With four days remaining, the advance ticket sale has hit only $300,000, well below the $800,000 MacDonald estimates he needs to break even.

While Liston and Clay put on their finishing touches 90 blocks apart in the swank Miami Beach area, ticket men at six windows at Convention Hall stood around twiddling their thumbs. Nobody was queuing up for tickets.

The electric excitement that normally accompanies heavyweight championships was nonexistent. There were small crowds and big yawns even at the fighters training sessions.

The widespread lack of enthusiasm was understandable. Few expected it to be much of a fight.

Liston, a massive Negro with arms like pistons and hands like country hams, has won his last three fights, two with Floyd Patterson and one with Germany's Alfred Westphal, in the first round and all in the total of little more than six minutes.

Clay, one of the brightest and most delightful characters fighting has produced, has shown no indication despite his remarkable speed and babbling tongue that he is likely to last any longer than his immediate predecessors. He has been lackluster in his latest workouts.

Liston is a 7-1 favorite and it's an even bet Clay doesn't answer the bell for the sixth.

Convention Hall seats 16,000. It appears that many of the seats will be unoccupied when Liston and Clay tap gloves at 10 p.m. EST.

"We're doing all right at the top and bottom, but aren't moving tickets as fast as we'd like in the middle," said MacDonald.

He has 6,000 seats in the bottom category, selling for $20 apiece, and 600 at ringside, going at $250, appealing to the status seekers. The others sell for $50, $100 and $150.

MacDonald and his associates don't get anything from the television monies, which may gross as much as $4 million.

OFF THE RECORD

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove rust or ink stains from vellum or parchment?

A. By applying a solution of oxalic acid, being sure to absorb the acid immediately afterward with blotting paper or cloth. Use rubber gloves when working with the oxalic acid, and don't splash any on yourself!

Q. Is there any way I can refresh rancid butter?

A. You can try melting it and skimming it, then putting a piece of fresh toast in it. The toast acts as an absorbent of the odor.

Q. Is there any way I can ease a pair of shoes that are too tight?

A. Wring a cloth out of very hot water, and place this over the spots where the shoe pinches while the shoe is still on your foot. The heat will cause the leather to expand, and thus give relief to your foot.

Q.—What is a quick and easy way of mixing leftover paint?

A. One idea is to drop a couple of marbles or ball bearings into the can before sealing it. They eventually become embedded in the thickening paint in the bottom of the can. Then, when the sealed can is shaken vigorously, the marbles or ball bearings will not rattle until the thickened paint has begun to mix with the oil. As soon as the objects rattle freely, you will know your paint is well mixed.

Q.—How can I clean copper easily and economically?

A. Rub it with half a lemon dipped in salt, then rinse it in hot water, and polish with a soft cloth.

Junior Editors Quiz on
ANTIFREEZE

IF SANTA CLAUS EVER DECIDES TO MODERNIZE HIS EQUIPMENT, HE'S GOING TO HAVE TO USE...

QUESTION: How does antifreeze work?

ANSWER: The circulation of water is vital in almost all car systems, as it keeps the engine cool enough to keep running. Water freezes when its temperature drops down to 32 degrees Fahrenheit. If cars were left with just water in their cooling systems in winter, in the cold part of the United States, this water would soon freeze solid and cars would heat up to a point where they could no longer run. Serious damage may be done to a car if its water system is frozen.

To prevent freezing, substances called "antifreeze" are added to the water. The chemical "glycol" is widely used. This freezes at a much lower temperature than water, so when it is mixed with water in the cooling system it will lower the water's freezing point. With a temperature of 10 degrees, 24 per cent glycol will do the job. But more is needed as it gets colder. Glycol is called a "permanent" antifreeze because its boiling point of 375 degrees is so high there's little chance of its boiling away. Another type of antifreeze, methanol, has a boiling point of only 150 degrees.

FOR YOU TO DO: Some day you'll probably be driving, so here's something to remember: check your radiator water frequently in winter to make certain there's enough antifreeze so that the car can't freeze in a cold snap.

Bryn Clark of Greenville, S. C., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Yes, Nina! He and his mule really have a cozy place here!

And the stew he served us was out of this world!

Punky will enjoy the meal! I fixed for Joel!

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove rust or ink stains from vellum or parchment?

A. By applying a solution of oxalic acid, being sure to absorb the acid immediately afterward with blotting paper or cloth. Use rubber gloves when working with the oxalic acid, and don't splash any on yourself!

Q. Is there any way I can refresh rancid butter?

A. You can try melting it and skimming it, then putting a piece of fresh toast in it. The toast acts as an absorbent of the odor.

Q. Is there any way I can ease a pair of shoes that are too tight?

A. Wring a cloth out of very hot water, and place this over the spots where the shoe pinches while the shoe is still on your foot. The heat will cause the leather to expand, and thus give relief to your foot.

Q.—What is a quick and easy way of mixing leftover paint?

A. One idea is to drop a couple of marbles or ball bearings into the can before sealing it. They eventually become embedded in the thickening paint in the bottom of the can. Then, when the sealed can is shaken vigorously, the marbles or ball bearings will not rattle until the thickened paint has begun to mix with the oil. As soon as the objects rattle freely, you will know your paint is well mixed.

Q.—How can I clean copper easily and economically?

A. Rub it with half a lemon dipped in salt, then rinse it in hot water, and polish with a soft cloth.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANTIFREEZE

IF SANTA CLAUS EVER DECIDES TO MODERNIZE HIS EQUIPMENT, HE'S GOING TO HAVE TO USE...

212° BOILING POINT

WATER

32° FREEZING POINT

GLYCOL

LOWER FREEZING POINT

...ANTIFREEZE!

QUESTION: How does antifreeze work?

ANSWER: The circulation of water is vital in almost all car systems, as it keeps the engine cool enough to keep running. Water freezes when its temperature drops down to 32 degrees Fahrenheit. If cars were left with just water in their cooling systems in winter, in the cold part of the United States, this water would soon freeze solid and cars would heat up to a point where they could no longer run. Serious damage may be done to a car if its water system is frozen.

To prevent freezing, substances called "antifreeze" are added to the water. The chemical "glycol" is widely used. This freezes at a much lower temperature than water, so when it is mixed with water in the cooling system it will lower the water's freezing point. With a temperature of 10 degrees, 24 per cent glycol will do the job. But more is needed as it gets colder. Glycol is called a "permanent" antifreeze because its boiling point of 375 degrees is so high there's little chance of its boiling away. Another type of antifreeze, methanol, has a boiling point of only 150 degrees.

FOR YOU TO DO: Some day you'll probably be driving, so here's something to remember: check your radiator water frequently in winter to make certain there's enough antifreeze so that the car can't freeze in a cold snap.

Bryn Clark of Greenville, S. C., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

U.S., Soviet Renew Their Cultural Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and the United States renewed their cultural agreement today. It sends Soviet classical ballet again to America but not one jazz note to the U.S.S.R.

The agreement, covering two years, included many things besides entertainment, however. Medical, scientific, industrial and scholastic exchanges in 1964-65 are called for.

Each side pledged to increase the number of exchanges in the performing arts—ballet, ballet, orchestras—but the increases were not great.

From the United States in 1964-65 will come the Oberlin (Ohio) College Choir, Holiday on Ice, the Pro-Musica Chamber Orchestra, and the Cleveland Orchestra.

A fifth number perhaps will be the Margaret Hillis Choir of Chicago but the agreement is not settled on that.

For Heart Fund Campaign

Chester-Newell Solicitation Set

Miss Alberta Stravinsky, left, and Mrs. Cora LaNeve head up the February Heart Fund cause in Chester and Newell, with volunteers to solicit in both communities tomorrow afternoon — Heart Fund Sunday.

The two volunteer chairmen are aiding the Hancock County Heart Council, of which Miss Stravinsky of Chester is an officer. Mrs. LaNeve is president of the auxiliary of Newell American Legion Post 114.

Coin canisters have already been placed in business establishments in Chester and Newell, and will be collected at the end of the month.

Goal of the Hancock County Heart Council, headed by Luke Wilson of Weirton, is $5,000. Wilson noted there was one death in this country every 34 seconds in 1962 from diseases of the heart and blood vessels. Cardiovascular diseases claimed one West Virginian every 54 minutes in 1960, every 53 minutes in 1961, and every 51 minutes in 1962, he said.

Volunteer workers throughout the county will call at homes to receive contributions and to distribute literature about the heart and its disorders.

Miss Stravinsky's volunteer workers will be Mrs. Bernice Ward, Mrs. June Gregory, Mrs. Helen Metsch, Mrs. Schontz Dunn, Mrs. Ruth Brewer, Mrs. Dortha Pattison, Mrs. Doris Goddard and Mrs. Iantha Shenton. Paul Pattison is in charge of the coin canisters.

Mrs. LaNeve will be aided by Mrs. Sadye Nally and Mrs. Audrey Lugano, with Larry Rush in charge of coin canisters. Boy Scout Troop 29 will help solicit households.

Judge Sets 2 'Point' Cases

An East Liverpool man and a LaCroft resident have been ordered to appear Wednesday at 10 a. m. before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to show cause why their driver's licenses should not be revoked under Ohio's 12-point demerit system.

They are Fred Max Ullman, 118 W. 2nd St., and John Russell Shaw of 3rd Ave., LaCroft.

The cases were certified to the city court by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles at Columbus after each man was charged with 12 or more demerit points under the state law. The notice explained they are subject to suspension of their driver's licenses for periods ranging from six months to five years.

The BMV record showed 14 points chalked up against Ullman for six alleged traffic law violations between Dec. 18, 1962, and Jan. 18, 1964. None of the cases was heard in the local court. He is accused of two reckless driving counts and four speeding charges.

According to the BMV, Shaw was charged with 12 points for two charges of driving while intoxicated — one on May 6, 1963, and the next on Jan. 13, 1964. Both cases were heard in Municipal Court, the record says.

Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw will appear to represent the state when the cases are heard here. "Point" cases were transferred from Common Pleas courts to local courts in a state law that took effect late in 1963. Only one "point" case has been heard previously in the local court.
